After starting school a week late, the students of BHS then had to contend with hammering, sawing, drilling, and all kinds of mechanical distractions. They were menaced by the roaring silver monster that rampaged the halls, confused by mixed up bells and endangered by a junior high invasion. The new school which everyone had hoped would be the best in northeastern Colorado, began the school year as a scramble of sawhorses, lockers that wouldn't open, boxes in corners of school rooms, clocks that wouldn't tick and mass confusion in general.

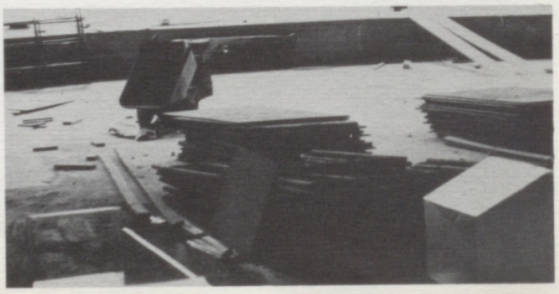

As the year progressed, things began to fall into place as the cafeteria was completed along with the gym and the auditorium. Later the art rooms and the music rooms were put into working order and the shop neared completion.

Old Main, which was located at 401 Howard for 53 years, came to its final end in December of 1971. Dedicated on September 7, 1918, Old Main was completely demolished on December 19. Approximately 2,800 students graduated from Old Main before it left this world.

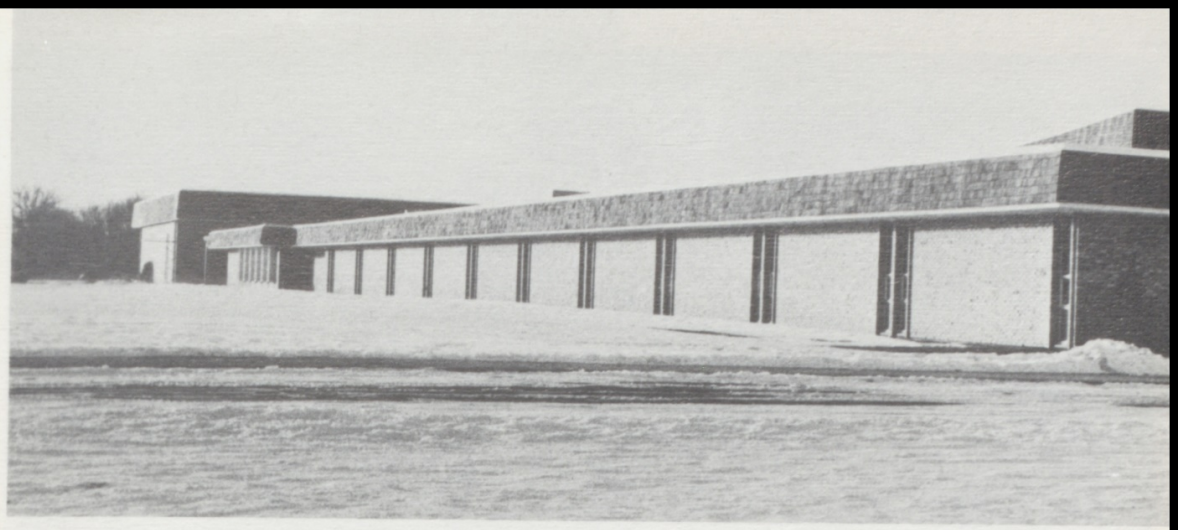

The laying of the cornerstone for the new high school by the Brush Masonic Lodge took place on Sep-

The laying of the cornerstone for the new high school by the Brush Masonic Lodge took place on September 5, 1970. Students entered the building to study on September 2, 1971. Work continued on the edifice throughout the school year. The auditorium was put into official use for the Junior Class Play on November 18 and 19. The gym was completed in time for the 71-72 basketball season and lunches were served starting November 4.

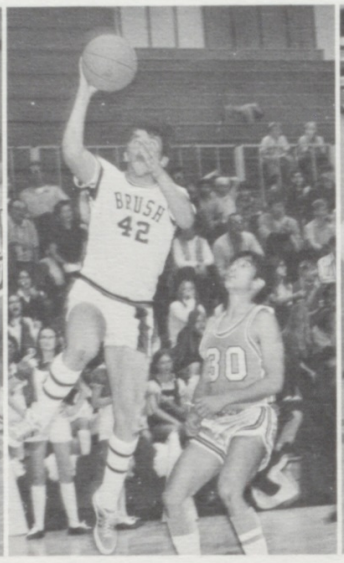

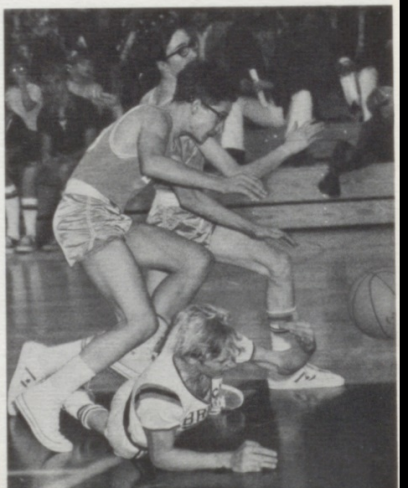

BRUSH

Throughout the 1971-1972 year, sports played an important part in the activities of Brush High. During the football season, Coach Don Thomas' team made it to the State Quarter Finals held in Brush.

The basketball team remained top of the league until the league play-offs. They were defeated by Haxtun, and went as the second place team to the district play-offs in Eaton. The team lost by a narrow margin.

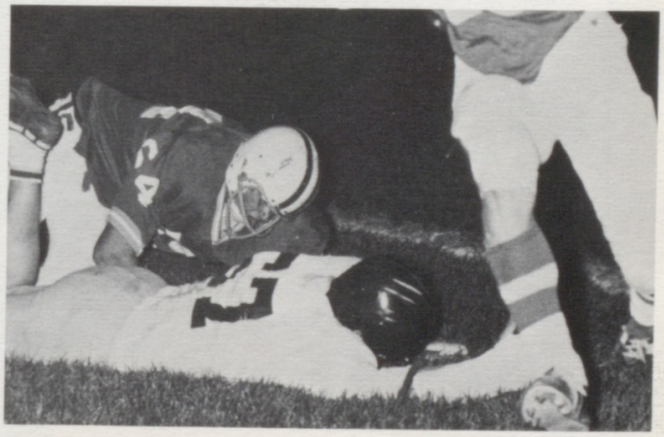

The wrestlers finished third in district. Consequently, they sent six to the state finals. They captured two first place titles and one third place.

The golf team tripled in size and was able to participate with several of the Denver area teams in duals or invitationals. In addition, the ninth graders participated in several junior high meets.

The track team sent two to the state track in Denver.

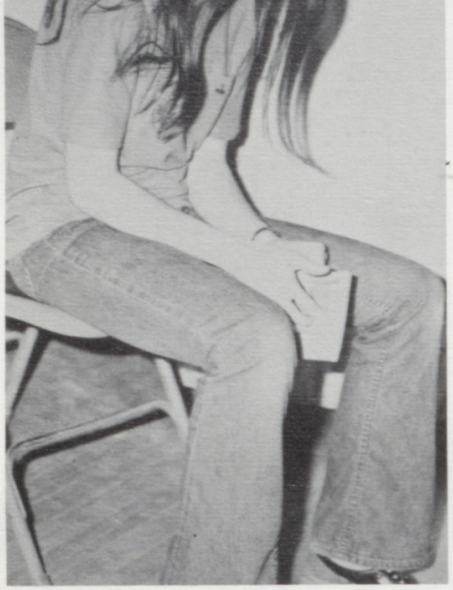

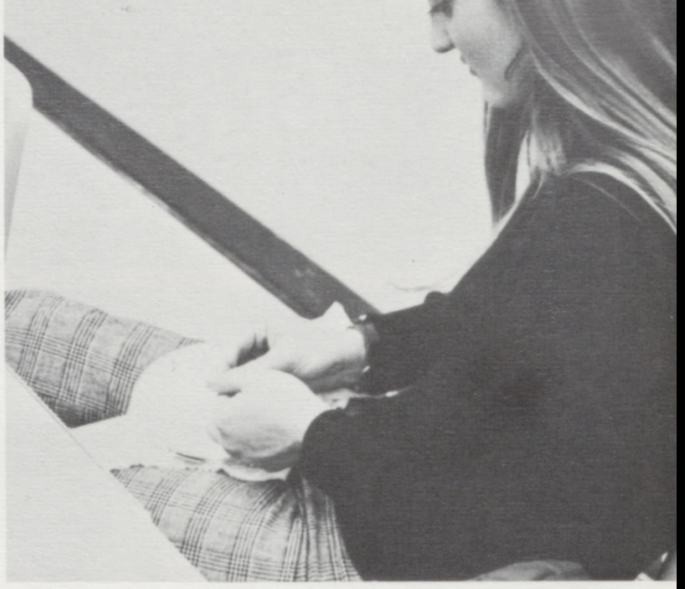

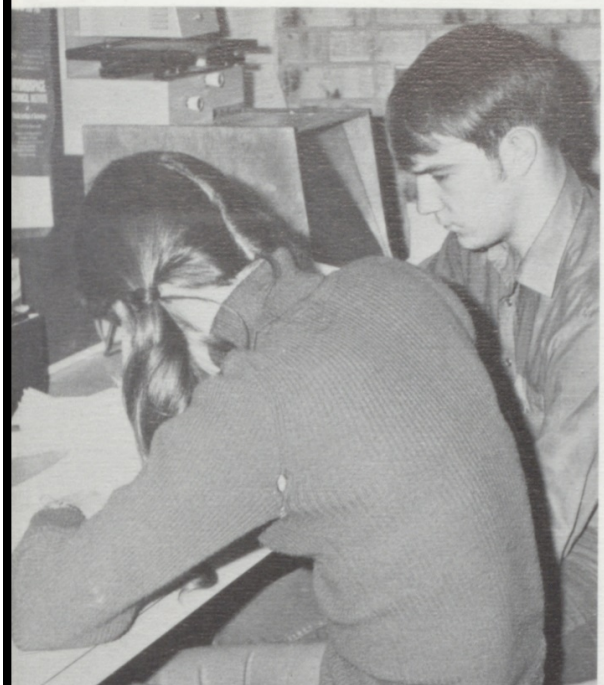

Making their last year at BHS a success was the goal of the class of 1972. As a group, the seniors worked very hard to take 'first' place in the Homecoming float competition. They also placed 'first' in the annual Digger Day events.

Toward the end of the school year, the juniors honored the seniors with the Prom, and the Women's Club honored the senior girls with the Spring Breakfast. The acheivements of many seniors were recognized at the Awards Assembly.

Baccalaureate, held May 21, was one of the final events for the seniors. The Graduation Ceremony was held May 25, where 112 members of the class of 1972 were handed diplomas.

Seniors Graduate 112

Led by Mrs. Claire Lynch and Mr. Tom Woolley, the Class of '72 began their final year at BHS by electing Rex Christensen and Dan Ferguson as president and vice-president, respectively. Sharon Flinn was chosen as secretary and Vince Laso filled the office of treasurer.

Placing first in the float competition, the seniors started the year out right and went on to take first on Digger Day. Seniors again were guests of honor at the Junior-Senior Prom, "Wonderland by Night". On April 29, the girls were hosted by the Brush Women's Club at the Senior Girl's Breakfast. Fourteen seniors received the honor of being chosen as Students of the Month. Finally, on May 21, Baccalaureate was held and 112 seniors graduated on May 25.

During the 1971-1972 school year, the juniors participated actively in all phases of school life. Much of their attention was centered around the Prom, which they presented April 15. By working in football concessions, they earned money to sponsor that event. "Seventeenth Summer", the Junior Class Play, also helped the class of 1973 earn money.

In the Homecoming competition, the Junior float placed 'third'. They received a 'fourth' place for the Digger Day activities. Many juniors were honored at the Awards Assembly, and 26 of these students earned summer workshop scholarships.

The Junior Class, sponsored by Miss Young, Mr. Edson, Mr. Kuhl, and Mrs. Woodward, started out 1971 by electing Eddie Pabst as President and Claudia Christensen as Vice-President. Dan Ingmire filled the office of Secretary and Jane Flinn was put in charge of the treasury books.

Homecoming float competition added a third place ribbon to the Junior's bid for Digger Day points, and the Class of '73 ended up taking 4th place in the Digger Day festivities.

Football concessions and the Junior class play, "Seventeenth Summer" helped the Juniors give prom, April 15. The "Glass Attic" provided music.

"Underclassmen" is a term descriptive of the sophomores and freshmen. These students are new to the school and are just beginning to come into the school's social and academic life.

Finding it difficult to make the transition from junior high to high school, is a common problem for freshmen. However, most of these new students participate actively in the school's many organizations and they soon feel at home in BHS.

By the time a student becomes a sophomore, he is busy with many more projects, not only for classes, but club projects as well. Second year students also become aware of their career desires, and plan studies to fit their future needs.

Freshman Float Takes Second

Mrs. Pauline DeJong, Mrs. Angelica White, and Mr. Albert Moser sponsored the Class of 1975 in their first year at Brush High School. Those chosen as president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer for the 1971-72 school year were Andy Mitchell, Eric Olsen, Jody Linker, and Randy Jones, respectively.

Orientation sessions were attended by the entire class during the first two weeks of school. The frosh learned of opportunities offered and rules and regulations, but were disadvantaged along with the remainder of the student body because of the move to the new facility.

Freshmen had many new challenges and experiences during the year. In the Homecoming float competition, they received second. The freshmen sponsored a pie raffle and other money making activities.

For the first time at BHS the students were able to use the new building and equipment to full advantage. This year a floating period was used. This enabled the different departments to work in more lab work.

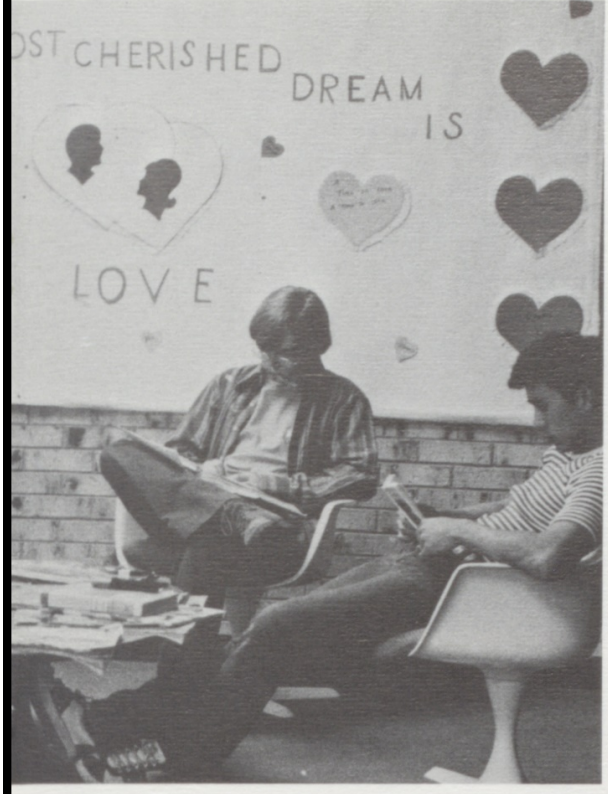

All English classes were on a quarter basis, while the Social Studies were on semester. Students were also given the opportunity to plan their own class schedules for the year. This presented many problems, but all were ironed out and the year proceeded.

With the doors closed for the 1972 summer, it can be said that another academically productive year was evident with advancement of the students to a higher level.

Any BHS student and faculty member was eligible to vote, with the voting taking place on April 19 and 20. Winners were announced April 20, during seventh period. Digger Day and Cleanup Combined BHS's annual Digger Day was held May 12, on Friday. Students went to class during first and second periods and the remainder of the morning was spent in the yearly cleanup. Each class was assigned a specific area outside the city limits to clean, including the grounds along the roadways.

The afternoon was set aside for the Digger Day events. The games were slightly different this year than last year, because of the facilities at the new school. Winning D-Day were the seniors, followed by the sophomores, second, and the freshmen, third. The class of '73 took fourth place.

As the end of the year drew near, students were struck with their annual dose of spring fever. Once the snow disappeared, teachers, administrators and parents dug deep into their imaginations to develop ways of keeping the students' attention from lagging. To alleviate some of the restlessness, Digger Day was sponsored by the Student Council. Graduation was conducted on May 25, following Baccalaureate on May 21. Thus, as school ended for the class of '72, a new students and returning students were introduced to the 72-73 schedule on Step-up Day, May 24.
