SAGEBRUSH
1960

OUR SCHOOL . . .

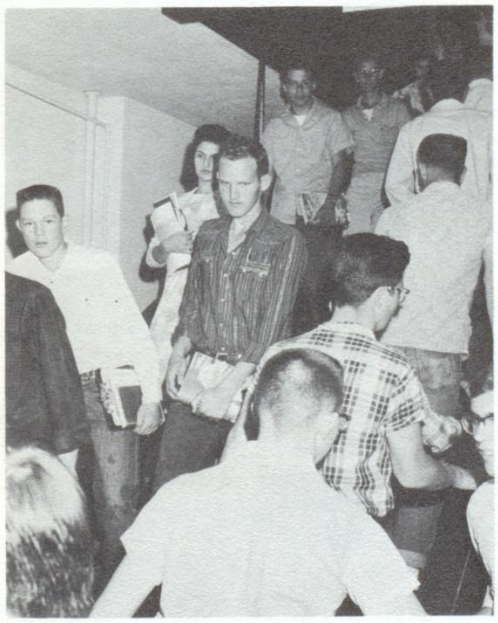

BRUSH HIGH SCHOOL is the public secondary school of Brush, Colorado. The main buildings house 300 students of four grade levels. The main buildings were built in 1918 and 1954, and are for all classes except those in shop, in vocational agriculture and in mechanical drawing or drafting. Brush High is accredited by the North Central Association and the state education department.

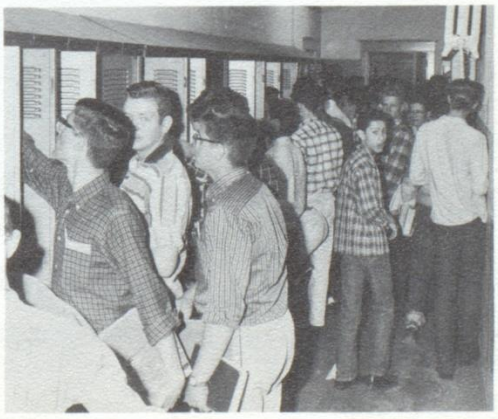

THE PEOPLE . . .

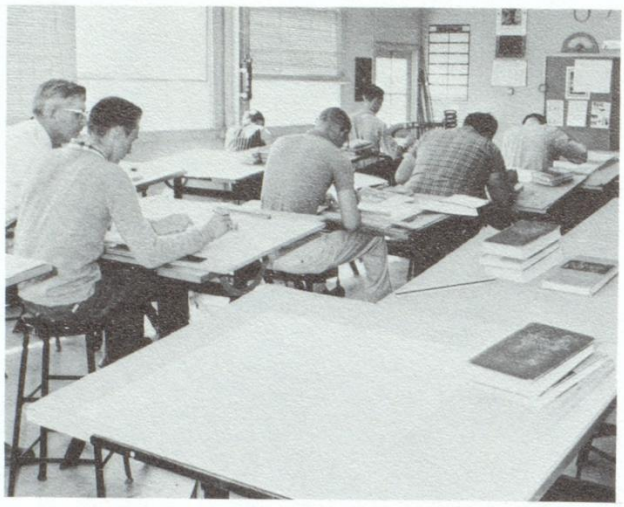

THE WORK . . .

Brush High offers courses in three majors: college preparation, vocational education, and general education. The school offers four years of science, math, English and social studies as well as two years of either of three foreign languages. In the vocational departments, four years of typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, agriculture, shop and mechanical drawing are offered. Brush High's graduates go to many national colleges and trade schools after graduation.

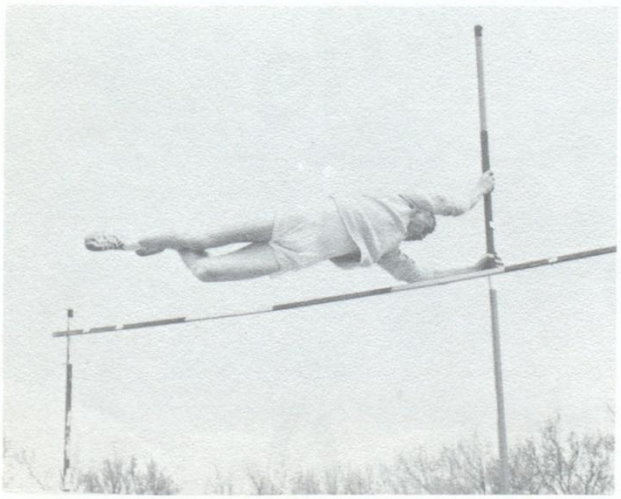

Students strive to make the honor roll, published every six weeks and at each semester. An average of at least B must be earned to be an honor student.

THE PLAY . . .

There are many activities in the school that occupy the students' leisure time. Clubs and athletics are the most active as they draw more than three-fourths of the student body to participate. This year many clubs held banquets and money raising projects as regular activity for the year.

SCHOOL BOARD
Guides Policy

Mr. E. W. Thomson, Superintendent of Brush Schools, sits in his office at Thomson Elementary School.

Much time and energy was contributed by these men on the Board of Education towards maintaining Brush High School's high academic standards and reputation.

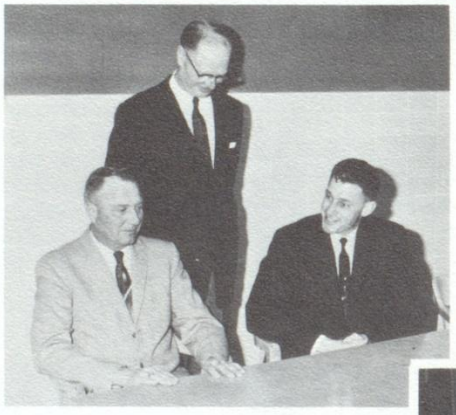

Formulating school policy and handling all financial matters are the Board's main tasks.

Personnel assignments are also considered by the school board.

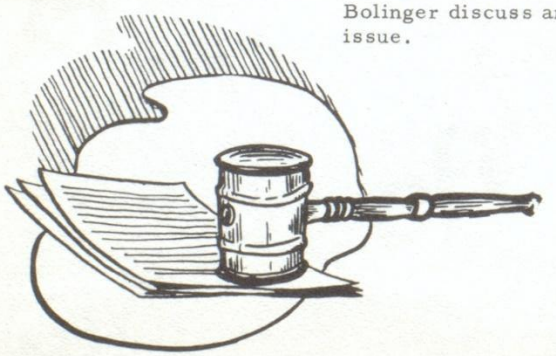

Mr. Harvey Bolinger was president this term. Mr. John Lindell held the position of vice-president. Mr. Raymond Fries was treasurer. Trustees were Mr. Dan Kjeldgaard and Mr. John Howlett.

Mr. John Howlett, newly-elected member, holds the position of trustee.

Mr. John Lindell, Mr. Dan Kjeldgaard, and Mr. Harvey Bolinger discuss an absorbing issue.

Mr. Raymond Fries, veteran board member, awaits the start of a meeting.

Each fall the students of Brush High School begin classes. This schedule serves as a birth certificate of the new school year.

May this Sagebrush act as a record of the important things in the 1959-1960 school life.

May it be an accurate account of the intellectual life, classes, teachers, and scholastic achievements; the social life, parties, dances, and banquets; the human relationships, friends, co-workers; the physical competition, competitive athletics, cheerleading, and spectator participation, and other interests that have been a part of the whole school life.

BAND ENSEMBLE

Gary Wofford and John Harvey; left; Jean Mortensen, Barbara Skinner, and Pat Larsen; bottom.

For the school year 1959-60, the enrollment in the band was 72 musicians. 57 vocalists made up the choir and there were 75 members in the orchestra.

Heading the music department are Mr. Hinton, Mr. Price, and Mr. Woolley.

On Oct. 17, 1959, 76 students of the band and a few of the orchestra attended the C.U. Band Day at Boulder, Colorado. Sue Smythe, Edna Harper, and Kathy Friehauf were the only members who tried out for the All-State Orchestra at Boulder. Edna Harper was the sole representative for Brush at the All-State Orchestra.

Barbara Skinner, Gary Friehauf, Mary Boyles, Pat Larson, Bud Morse, and Frances Fries fried out for All-State Band on Dec. 9, 1959. Gary Friehauf was Brush's sole representative for the All-State Band.

Music for the Nativity of the year 1959-'60 was provided by the small choir, large choir, and a brass choir.

The music department presented three concerts this year. It also furnished the music for all the football games and basketball games except one at home. Also the band marched in the Homecoming Parade.

This is the third year that the Dance Band was part of the music department. The members of the Dance Band played occasionally during the noon hour in the recreation room.

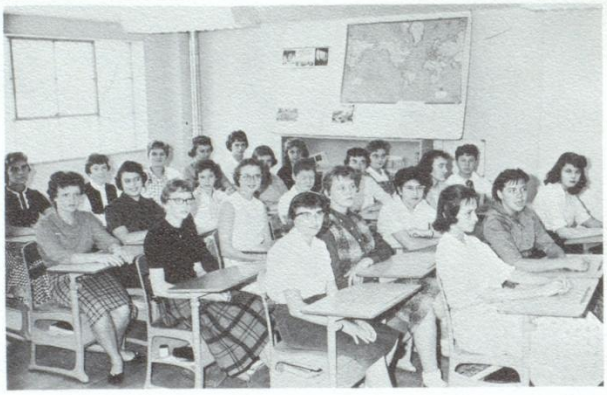

The band ensemble consisted of Gary Wofford, John Harvey, Jean Mortensen, Barbara Skinner, Pat Larson, Sharon Koehler, Mary Dahms, Frances Fries, and Sharon Lee.

Members of the organization are working very hard in the club and scholastically in the hope that they might be selected to take the trip. The IRC was founded in the fall of 1957 under the sponsorship of Miss Matthews. Since then it has become one of the more popular activities of Brush High School. There are no restrictions on membership, but it has become an all girl organization.

In the spring, election for officers and cheerleaders was held and results were announced at a banquet which was attended by the entire pep club.

Juniors Have Excellence As Goal

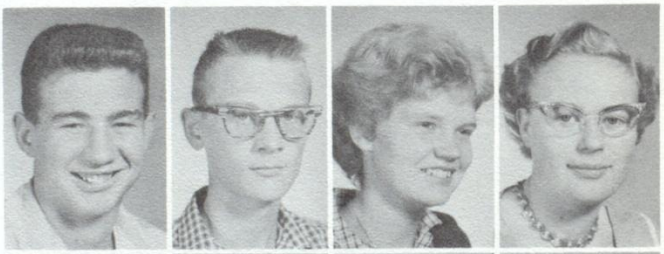

Beginning the school year 1959-60, the juniors elected officers at their first class meeting. Clive Jones was re-elected president, and Bill Giauque was voted vice-president. Ron Herbst was chosen treasurer; Renee Blessing received the office of secretary.

Money was a continual problem to the class owing to its small size, but as a result of much effort, the problem was solved.

One source of revenue was the football concessions. Considerable uproar was caused, however, by the vandalizing of some concession stores.

The Homecoming float was build around the slogan, "Time to rake um under."

A highly successful bake sale was held at Johnnie's Home Furnishings, and during March, a festive dance was sponsored by the class.

All this was in addition to the traditional sources of income such as the class play.

In the two months preceding the prom a welter of planning, ordering, and work took place. The various committees were set for the prom and banquet. The theme, Springtime in Paris, was chosen, and all decorating centered around this theme.

The final goal of all this activity proved worth the effort, for the junior-senior prom crowned the 1959-60 school year. Dominating the dance floor was a replica of the Parisian Eiffel tower, and an atmosphere of French gaiety pervaded the scene. Thus by twelve-thirty the seniors were duly honored, and the juniors were anticipating the time of their recognition.

Homecoming festivities began with the annual parade to the downtown section of Brush. The Band, Pep Club, class floats, and the grade school band participated in the procession. Although the parade was dampened by the weather, spirits were not. The class of '61 received second place for their float, while top honors went to the class of '62.

Queen candidates included Pat Larsen, Kay Martens, Sharon Lee, Maralyn Schwindt, and Homecoming queen Ellen Hoxworth.

Next, the snake dance from the high school to the bonfire at the fair grounds was held. Wood for the bonfire was gathered by the freshman. A dummy of a Windsor player was thrown into the fire to represent victory.

The Homecoming game with Windsor was played with the Diggers losing 21-14. During the half-time ceremonies, football captains, Jerry Kolman and Ron Morhlang, crowned Ellen Hoxworth the '59 Homecoming queen.

Seniors Honored With PROM AND BANQUET

May 7, 1960, the Brush High juniors gave the annual prom and banquet for the seniors. During the meal at the Central cafeteria, Bill Scott, master of ceremonies, spoke words of French to follow the theme of the prom and banquet, "Springtime in Paris."

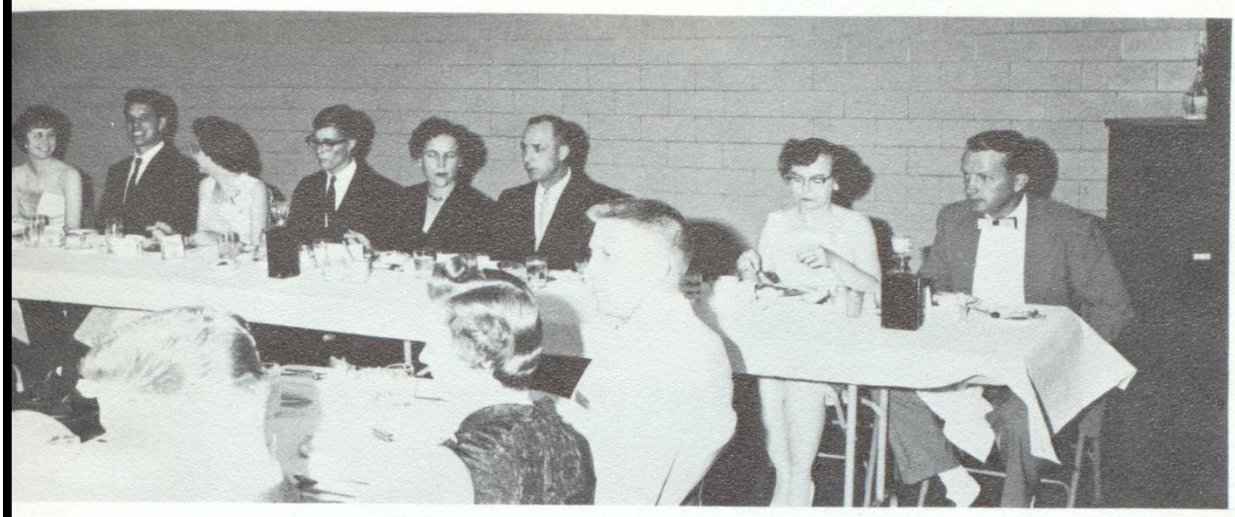

Carol Mercer and Ron Herbst demonstrate a dance step for the camera at the Prom.

The agenda for the program included an appearance of Fifi, a French poodle owned by John Kuntz. Speeches were given by Barbara Skinner, Larry Mercer, and Mary Boyles. Amy Asheim and Ann Petty sang two duets with a Paris theme. Mothers of the juniors served the banquet food.

The entire school voted on prom queen and her attendants.

Ellen Hoxworth was over-all chairman of the dance, which is traditionally sponsored by the Pep Club.

Ruth Ann Marietta, Pep Club mascot and her escort Joel Dean Trotter were special guests of the Pep Club.

Dance music was provided by the Vikings from Greeley. Members of the Mothers Council chaperoned.

FALL PLAY Produced by Thespians

A mystery-comedy, Bull in a China Shop, was this year's fall play production directed by Mrs. Bloom. The plot centered around a rooming house of old maids and this group's amorous interests in handsome, detective O'Finn, played by Larry Mercer. These ladies' admiration for O'Finn became so strong that they killed each other to provide work and contact with bachelor O'Finn. Judy Scheideman cast as a lady reporter complicated the plot by also wanting O'Finn. In the end O'Finn comes out unscathed and still a bachelor.

BHS' Music and Drama departments presented the Christmas Concert on the evening of December 22. The program consisted of lighted tableaux as the background for Christmas music, which was sung by the Concert and Large Choirs.

This year a different type of Christmas program was presented, instead of the traditional Nativity. Mr. Thomas Woolley instructed the music departments, and Mrs. John Bloom directed the Drama department.

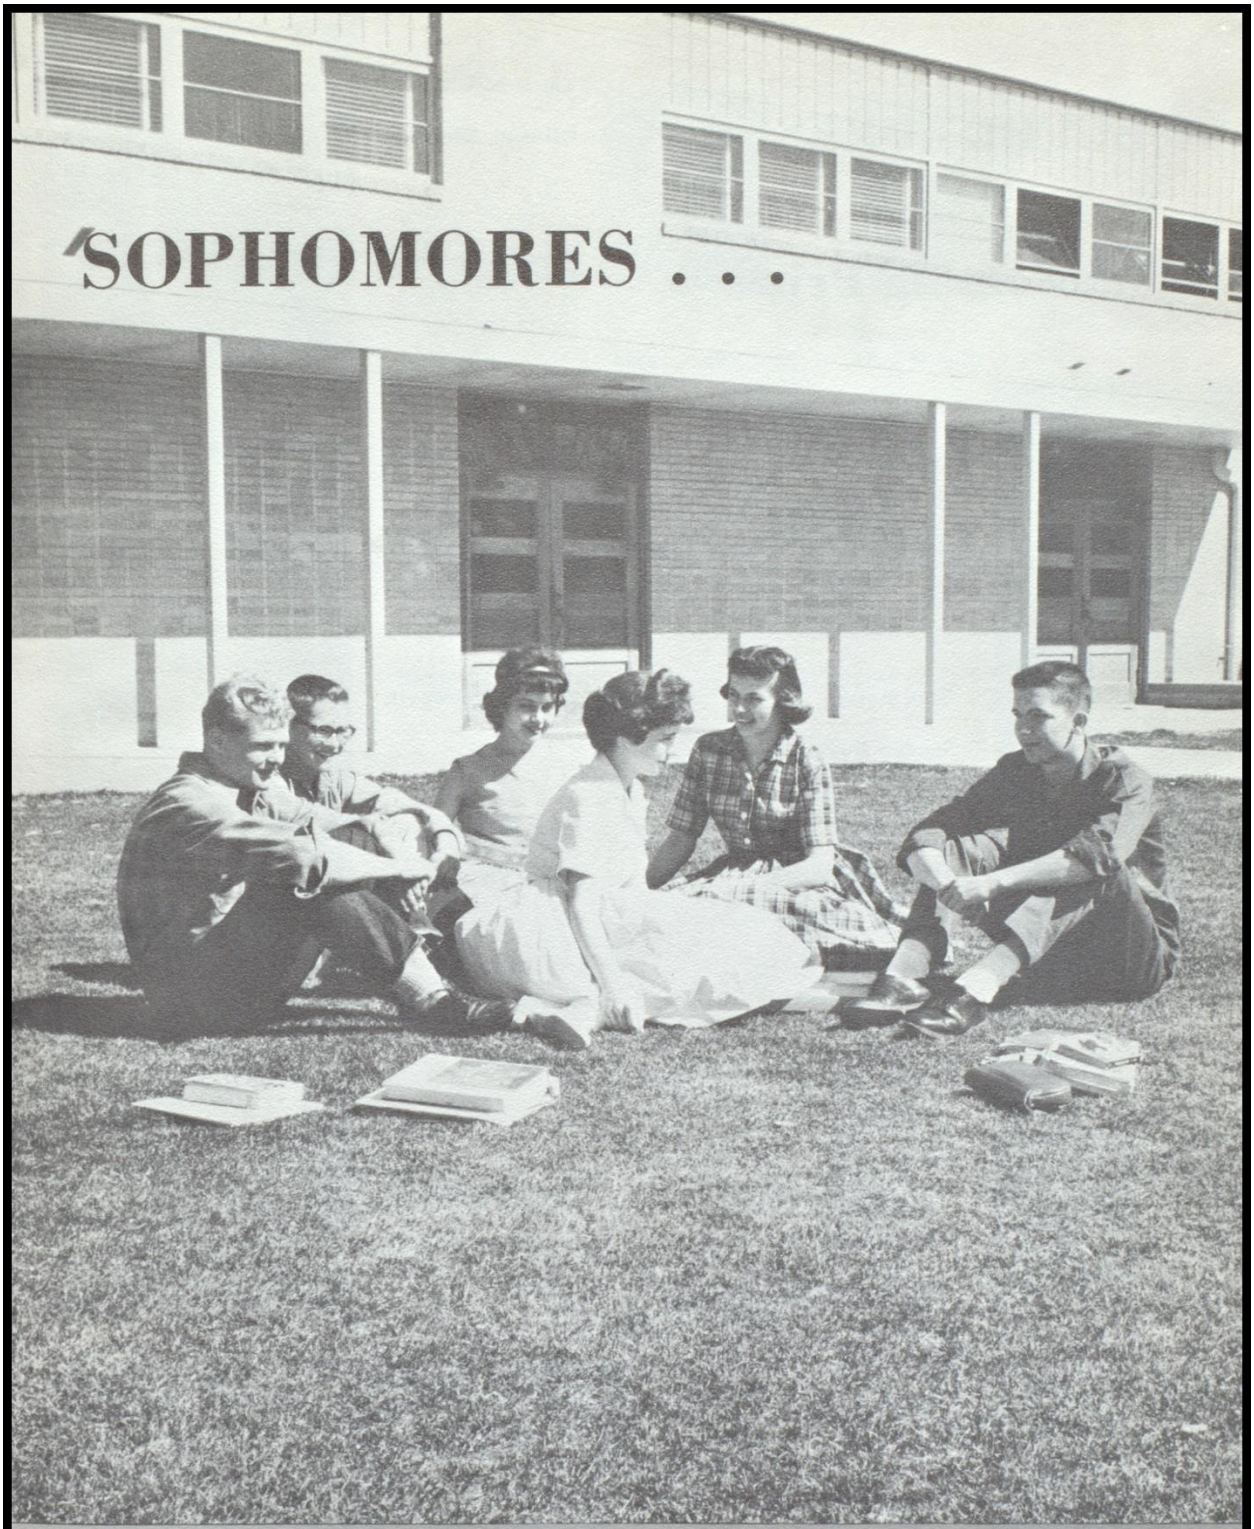

Concert Choir sang modern or unusual Christmas carols.

Large Choir sang traditional Christmas carols.

When the 1959 season came to an end, the Brush gridders had won four games and lost five. Their conference record was two wins and three losses. The season started with a 12 to 7 defeat by Yuma on Sept. 4th. The team showed good spirit and gang tackling during their first game. During the next week the practices were ragged and lifeless. This resulted in a 39 to 13 troucing by Julesburg. The third game of the season was an exhibition of the Diggers' offensive and defensive potential. The game ended with the Diggers on top 21 to 7 over Wray.

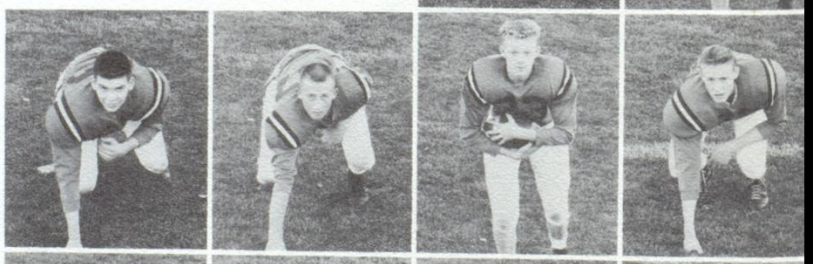

Brush then continued to defeat College High 25 to 0, Eaton 7 to 0, and led Fort Lupton 13 to 0 at half-time thus completing the first half of conference play undefeated, untied, and unscored upon. The Blue Devils came out of the dressing room and proceeded to, unopposed take a 20 to 13 lead and hold it to take the victory. Homecoming proved a disappointment as the Windsor Wizards defeated 20-13 the ragged Beet-digger attack.

Then Brush rebounded for a moral victory over heavily favored Bear Creek 19-7 in a non-conference tilt. The season ended with a defeat by LaFayette who had won only one other game this season. The score was 13-0.

Basketball 1959-1960: Coach Needens began his first year as head basketball coach at Brush High School with a program of building his team and looking to future seasons. Brush High dropped a set offense in the early season, and although they still lost a good number of games, gave two scares to League champ Eaton. Brush ended the season with a 3 won-16 lost season, with Tim Lally and Bob Smith high scorers in the season. Lally saw limited action due to injuries while Smith, as well as under-classmen Stoops, Gay, Kjeldgaard and Giauque, saw much action and gained valuable experience. Because of this year's ups and downs, mainly downs, Brush will be strong soon.

SADIE HAWKINS WEEK
Establishes Tradition

From the sixth of April to the eighth of April, the Student Council of B.H.S. sponsored the first Sadie Hawkins week. The festivities began during activity period on April sixth with a slave auction, which was held in the auditorium. The slaves were volunteers from the senior boys, the buyers were the girls of the student body. The bidders were allowed to bid a bid of not more than $.25. The bidder bid only on a card held up with a number on it.

Mr. Mitchell auctions senior boys to the girls while Martha Holt holds up the card with the number on it.

On Friday, April 8, the final day of Sadie Hawkins week took place. The students were allowed to wear their rags, but....no short shorts or bathing suits were allowed to be worn.

The students went through their regular class routine with little or no disturbance to all.

Sadie Hawkins Week ended with a dance and free refreshments, which were purchased with the money made at the slave auction. The dance was held in "Dog Patch BHS" at 8:30 Friday evening.

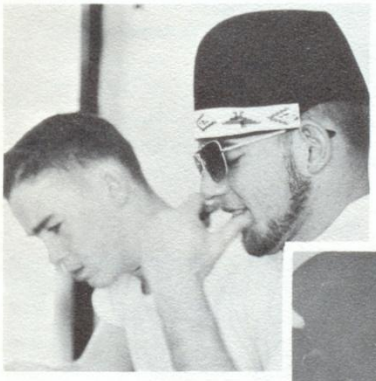

At the dance Mammy Youkmberry wine was served. A committee of judges chose a Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae. Genny Padilla was selected the latter, and Gary Friehauf was chosen Li'l Abner.

Peppy Pep Club!?

Due to the warm weather, many pep assemblies were held on the school lawn.

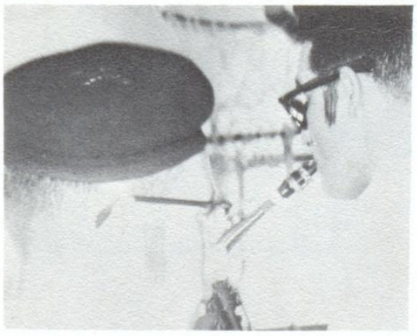

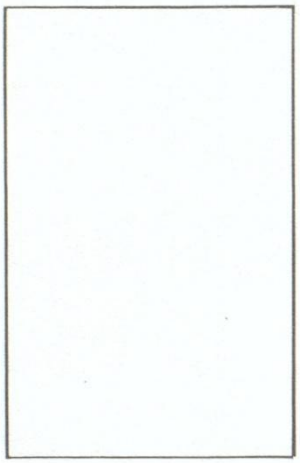

The themes for pep skits were many and varied. Skits helped school spirit a great deal.

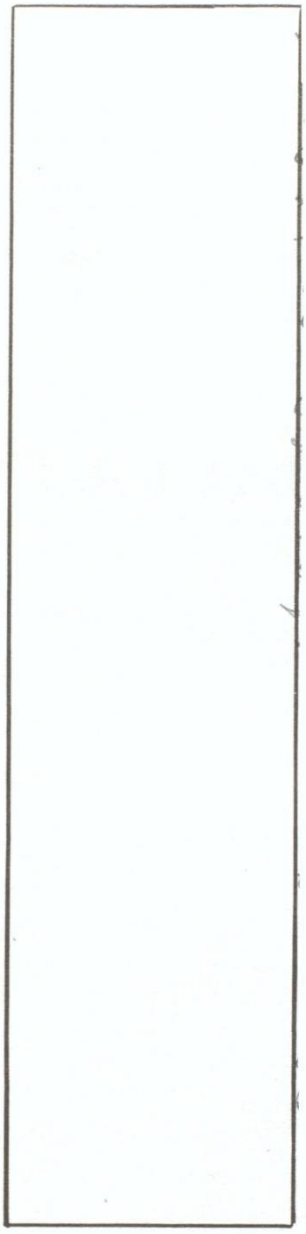

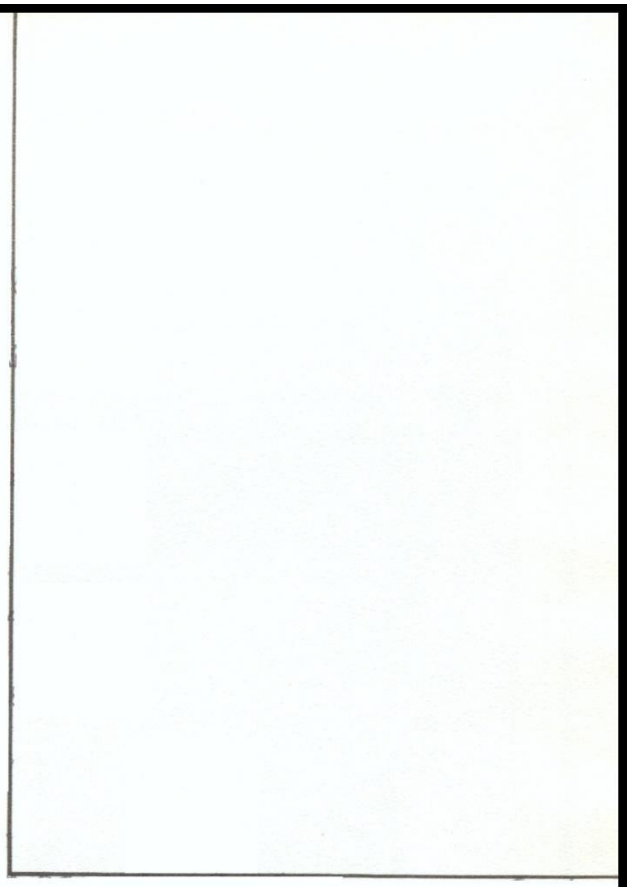

PASTE-UP

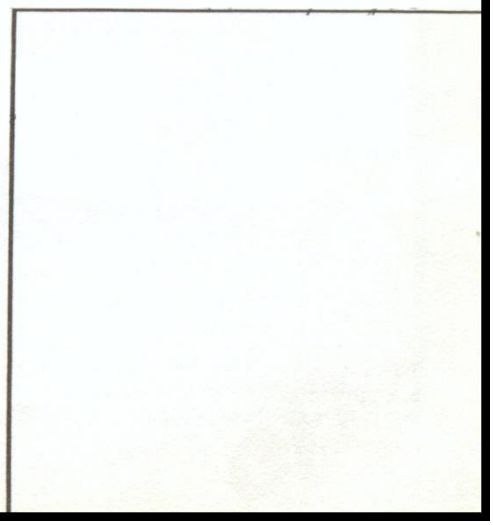

The current trend to "do-it-yourself" has brought this idea that you would like to include a few of your own pictures to this record of 1959-60.

HERE . . .

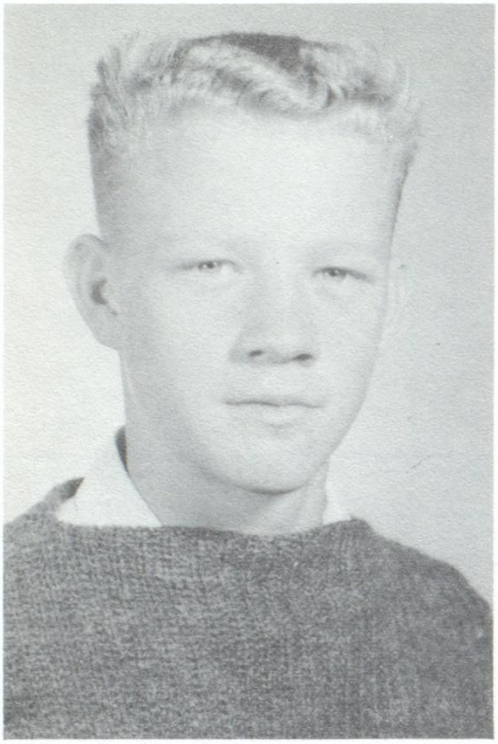

If you have something cut from a newspaper, an athletic picture possibly, or a snap-shot of your best friend or girl, past it here as a permanent record of the year. Don't smear the page, though; it's messy that way.

IN MEMORY OF

Dick Baird

Dick Baird was a member of the class of 1962 until he met his death in an automobile accident on June 9, 1960.
