WE ACKNOWLEDGE:

Almost a quarter century of selfless community and school service should not be allowed to pass without some recognition. Therefore we would like to take this opportunity to call attention to Mr. Raymond Fries who, for the past twenty-four consecutive years, donated his time and energy to the schools of Brush as member of the Board of Education.

Editors and Staff,
1965 Sagebrush

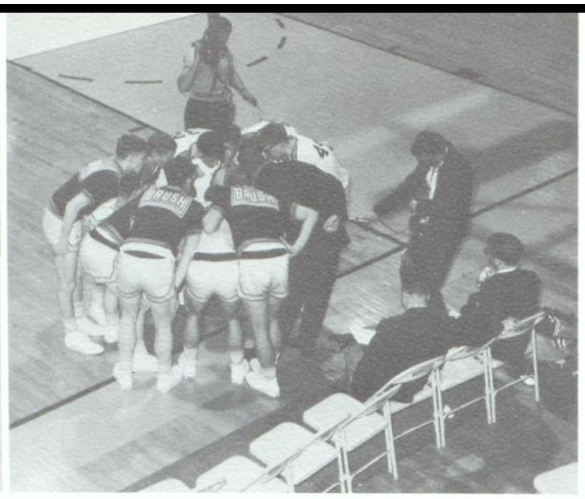

To a Friend of Brush Schools:

Few people are given the responsibility and the opportunity to serve their schools and their community for as long a time and in as important a manner as has been given to Raymond Fries. For 24 years he has held at various times each office on the local Board of Education. He also served as chairman of the County School Planning Committee for two years.

I am sure that all students, their parents as well as the present and past members of the faculty join with me in saying thanks for a job very well done.

E. W. Thomson

We had some snow but not enough to get us out of school.

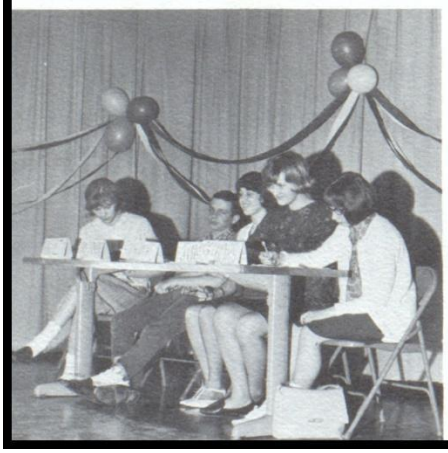

Wednesday, April 14, BHS students and faculty chose four of the 15 candidates to head Student Council next year. Elected were Connie Jones as secretary, Mike Stimson as business manager, George Sears as vice-president, and Tom Harbert as president.

This year the Pep Club's annual Sweetheart Dance featured the theme "Three Coins in a Fountain." Pep Club members elected Marlin Amsberry as Mr. Beetdigger, and his attendants were Larry Skinner and Dean Giauque.

Sponsored by the Class of '66, this year's Prom was decorated with the theme "Blue Hawaii." Junior Class President Tom Harbert crowned Shari Uhlenhopp as Prom Queen. Crowned as Shari's attendants were senior, Merrie Wankelman and junior, Pat Lebsock.

Students took to the lawn early in the spring.

Student Council members hand out ballots for the student body election.

Senior "X" teammates work together in an unsuccessful attempt to beat the Junior "Y" team on Digger Day.

ACTIVITIES FILL '64-'65 SCHOOL YEAR

The KLZ men covered the Diggers' State Tournament games for their documentary on Brush. The documentary was shown on Monday night, March 15.

Climaxing the football season were the Homecoming activities. On the night before the game the annual snake dance, pep assembly, and bonfire were held. The seniors took top honors with their float in the Homecoming parade. On the night of October 2, Brush lost its Homecoming game to the Yuma Indians. Carol Hergenreter was crowned Homecoming Queen and was attended by Shari Uhlenhopp, Jean Watrous, and Ruth Bostrom.

Larry Skinner crowns Carol Hergenreter at the Homecoming game.

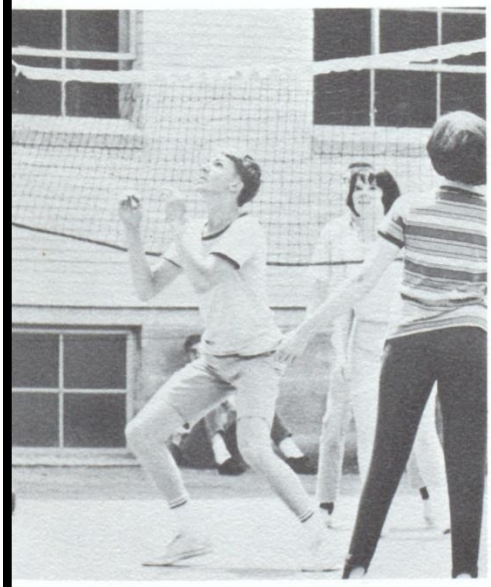

The Digger basketball players came through the season by winning all their games except their second encounter with Yuma, which they dropped 55-49. In the AA State Basketball Tournament, the Diggers defeated Glenwood Springs, Salida, and Highland to bring home the championship trophy.

Prom Queen and attendants start spotlight dance after crowning ceremony.

For the first time, Student Council's annual Christmas assembly was a program of student talent performances. In addition to several instrumental music presentations, Mr. Woolley's choir class sang Christmas songs. Also, the seniors gave the annual nativity on December 17.

On May 17, BHS's first Digger Day, each class entered two teams in both the volleyball and softball tournaments. Junior teams placed first in both events, but later lost their volleyball title to the faculty team.

Jane Mitchell helps with Christmas decorations.

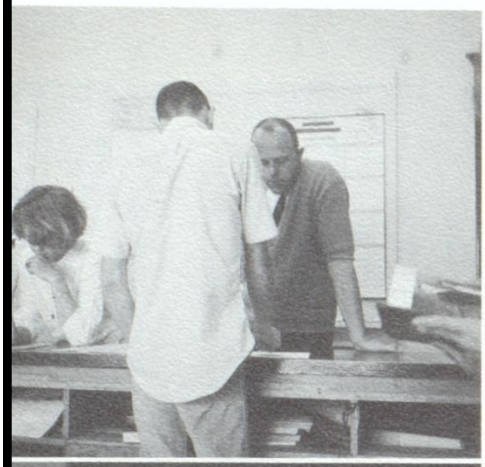

Nineteen members of the Journalism Staff divided their time between publishing the newspaper and publishing the yearbook. Under the editing of Cynthia von Riesen, fifty pages of SAGEBRUSH REPORTER were sent to press during the school year. The yearbook, which consisted of 136 pages, was headed by George Sears.

In addition to the regular activities of the staff, eleven students of journalism traveled to Colorado State University to attend J-Days, a news writing, news editing, and yearbook layout workshop.

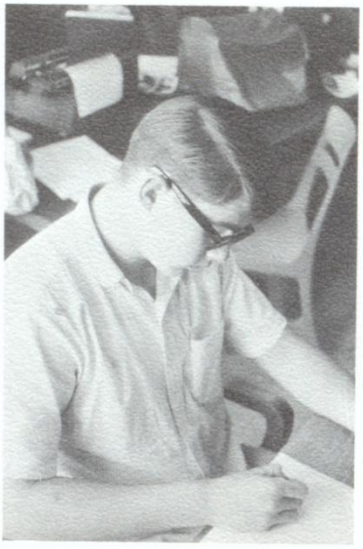

Mr. Thomas Woolley was the advisor and other editors included: Bonnie Herrmann, copy editor and Merrie Wankelman and Curtis Clark, sports editors.

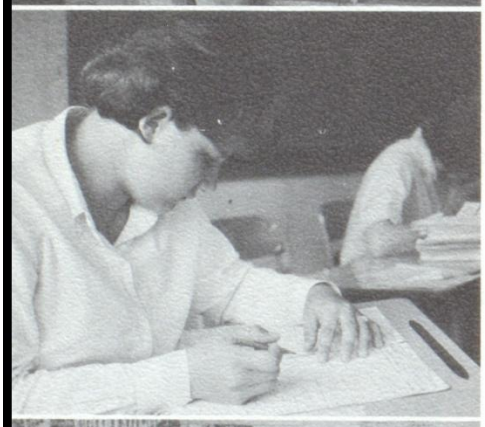

Cynthia von Riesen, editor, checks copy for the Sagebrush Reporter.

Yearbook pages start out on the drawing board, and Kathy Karpe is shown planning those assigned to her.

George Sears checks yearbook pages for possible errors.

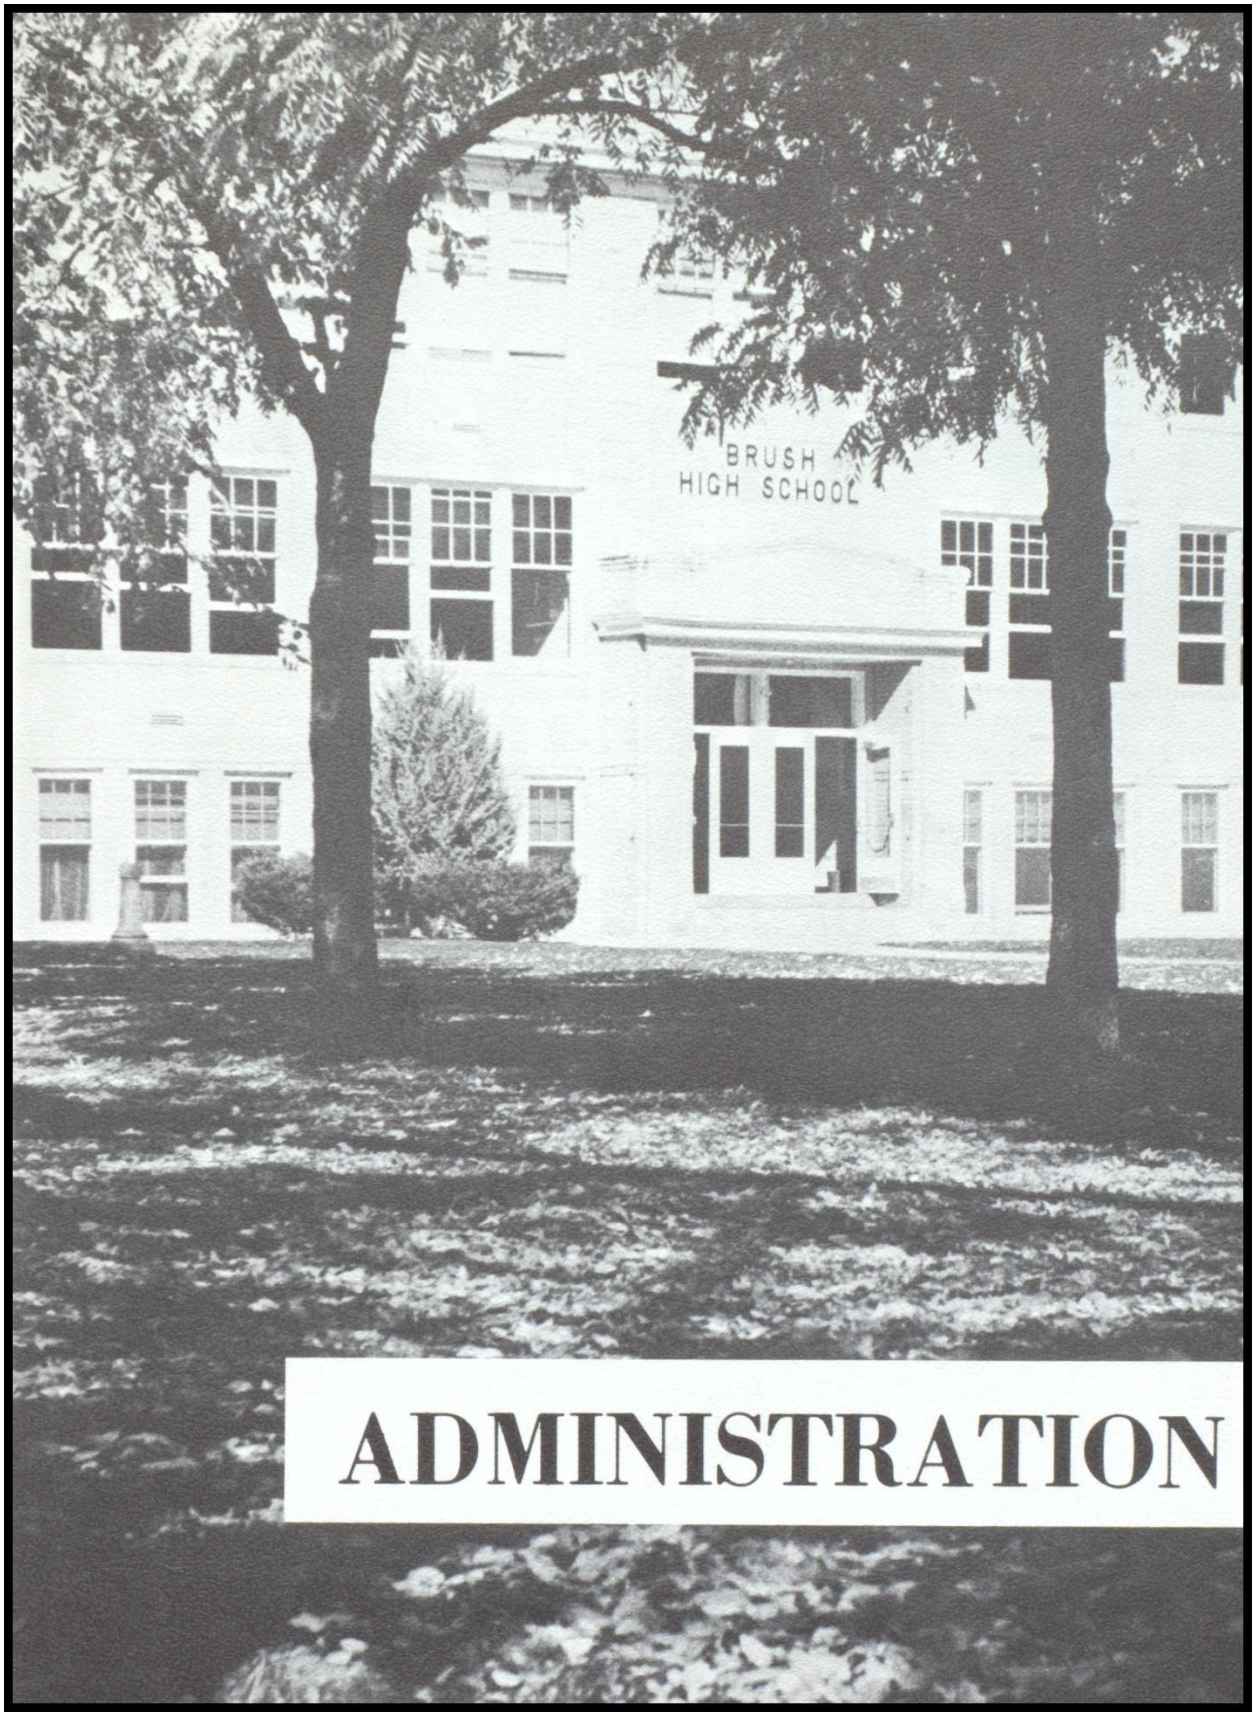

J-STAFF RECORDS NEWS, MEMORIES

Lack of room proved to be the main problem this year, and many students found that unless they were quick to dash to the few available seats, they were left standing. Next year the staff is moving into larger quarters.

At left, Linda Schilling finds that typing is a needed skill for journalism students.

ADMINISTRATION

MARCH 30 ELECTIONS SET SCHOOL BOARD FOR NEW RE-2 DISTRICT

Raymond Fries, who served on the Board for 25 years, retired this year.

Position of secretary was held by Mrs. Grace Jeffers.

E. W. THOMSON CHOSEN BY SCHOOL BOARD TO LAUNCH NEW DISTRICT

Prior to his career as superintendent of Brush High School, Mr. E. W. Thomson started on his ladder of success when he received his diploma from Appleton City High School in Missouri.

After attending Southwestern Teacher's College in Springfield, Missouri, he moved to Boulder, Colorado, where he finished summer school to receive his Master of Arts Degree.

Mr. Thomson taught at Ignacio, Colorado, before moving to Brush. Here he was appointed as principal of Central School.

During the depression he held the position of principal and also taught eighth grade math. Mr. Thomson was principal of Central for four years.

When Mr. Thomson is not occupied with our welfare he enjoys his spare time working with his ham radio or photography.

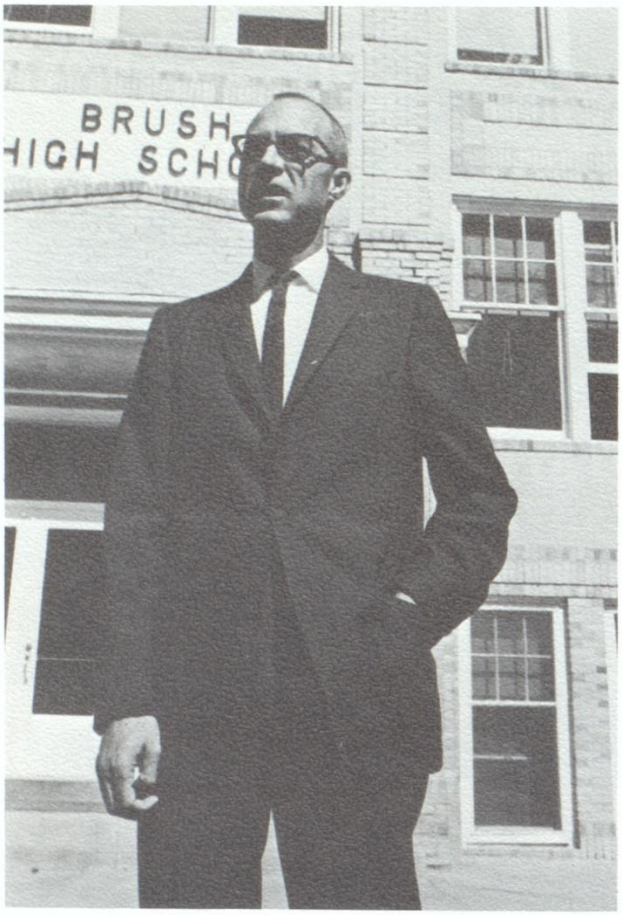

TO THE GRADUATES OF 1965

The question for all the graduates to settle for themselves is not what they would do if they had the means, time, influence of other advantages; the question is, what will you do with the abilities you have?

The road to success is not a smooth way over which someone is going to carry you, but usually is a rugged path filled with many obstacles. I would not wish it otherwise, but hope you have all the desire and determination that is necessary for each of you to be a success.

E. W. Thomson, Supt.

For the past 11 years Mr. Thomas Lally has dedicated himself as principal of Brush High School. Prior to this he was a teacher, coach, and administrator for three years.

Mr. Lally moved to Brush in the school year of 51-52 from La Veta, Colorado.

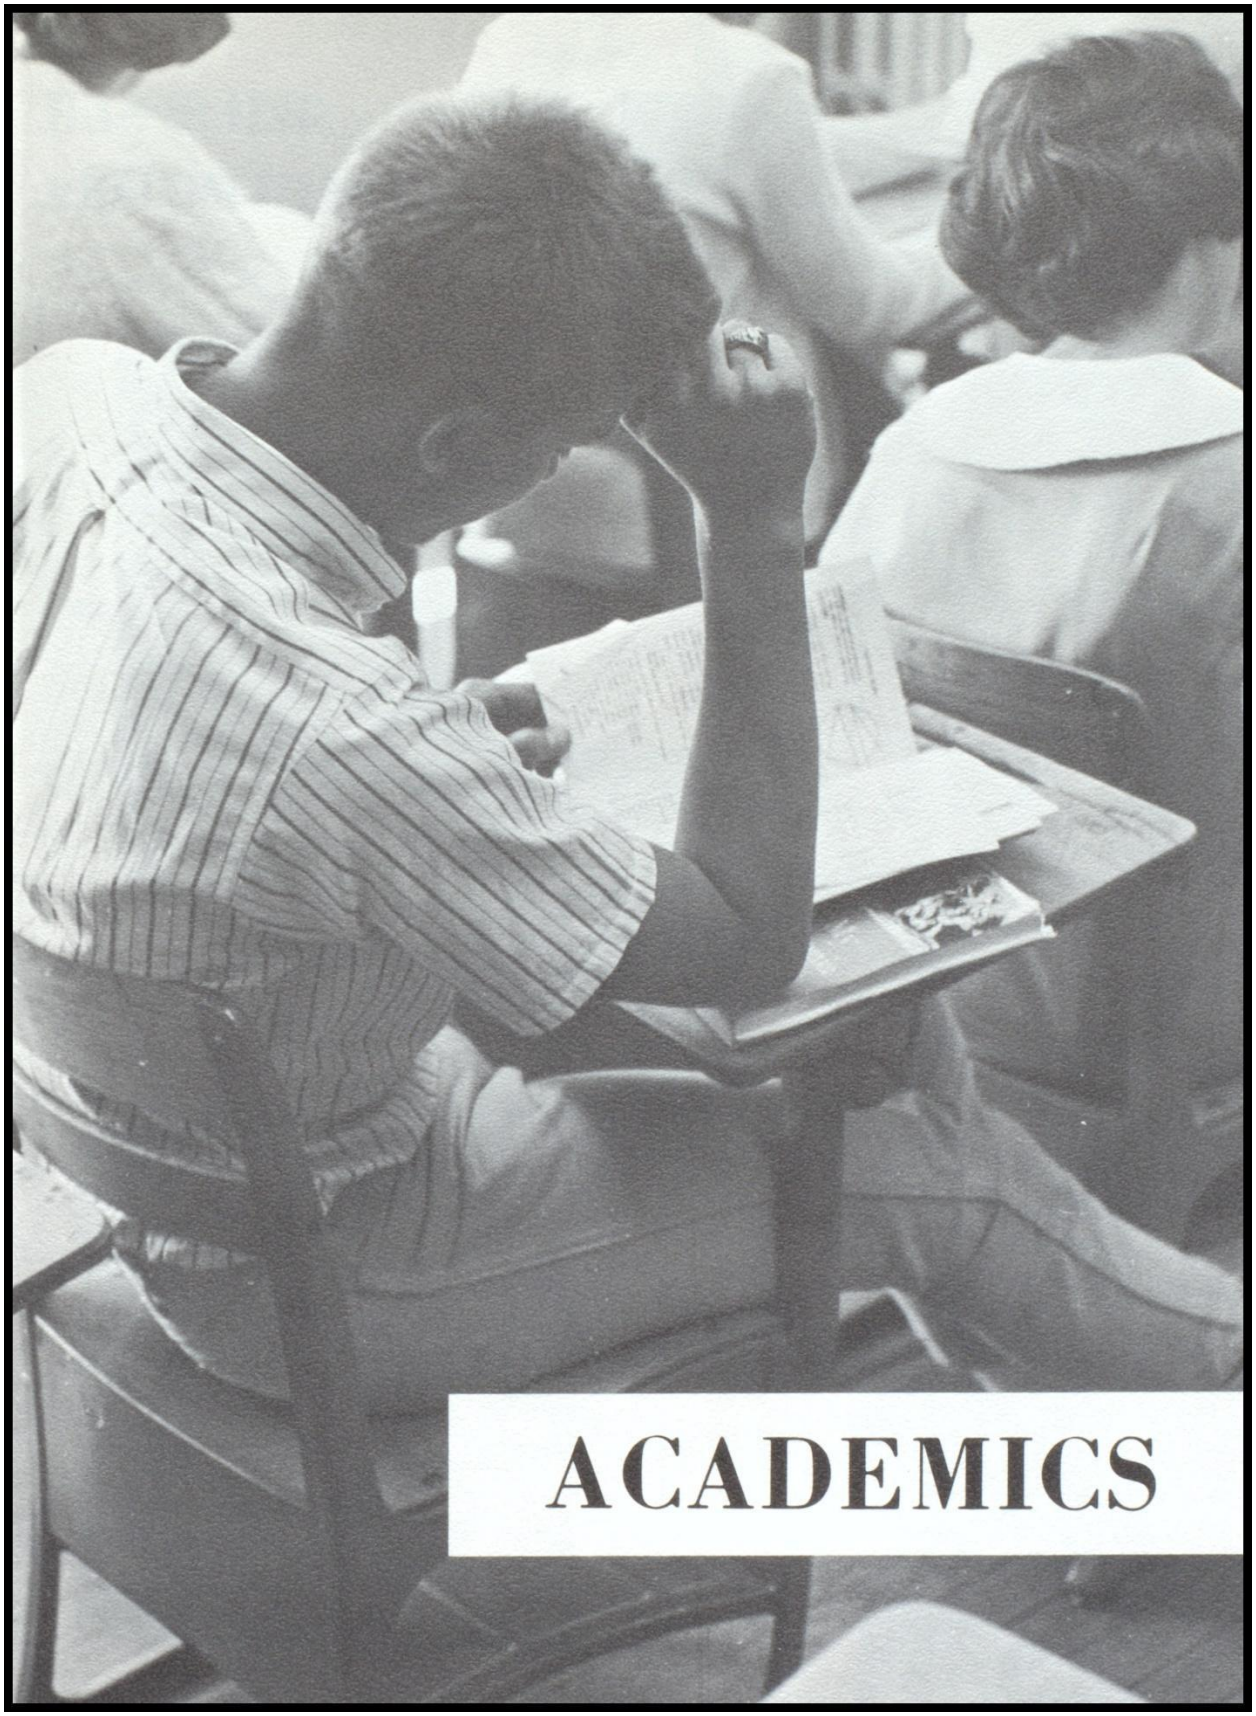

Mr. Thomas Lally completed his secondary education at Central High School in Pueblo, Colorado. He then attended the University of Southern California where he received his Master's Degree in education.

After completing college Mr. Lally taught math, and coached basketball and baseball in Brush. He then assumed the position of Principal. He has been principal at BHS for 11 years and enjoys reading, math, motorcycle riding, golf, and parachute jumping.

ACADEMICS

B.H.S. SUB ACTIVITIES

Victor Garber makes use of extra study time.

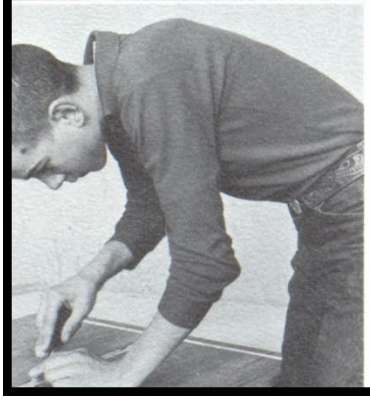

Peggy Homeburg tests her talent on a painting.

Tim Chandler and John Kissel work on projects for shop.

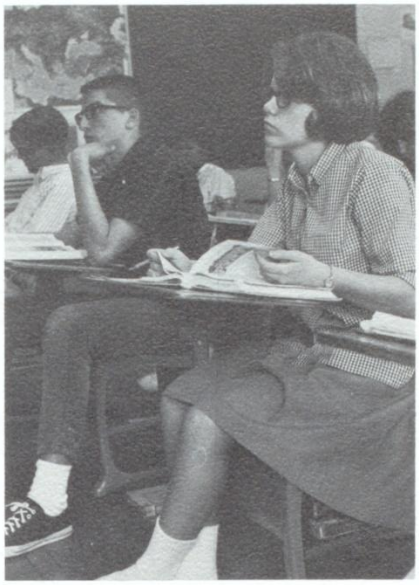

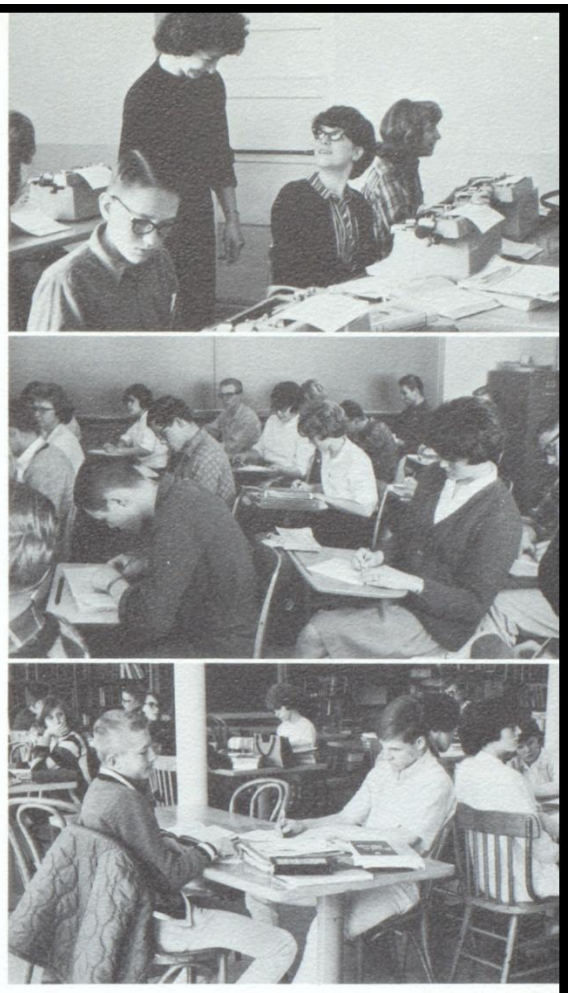

English students check their work.

JECTS AND ARE NUMEROUS

Nancy Mitchell, Dennis Salzman, and Kirk Christensen listen to the teacher's lecture.

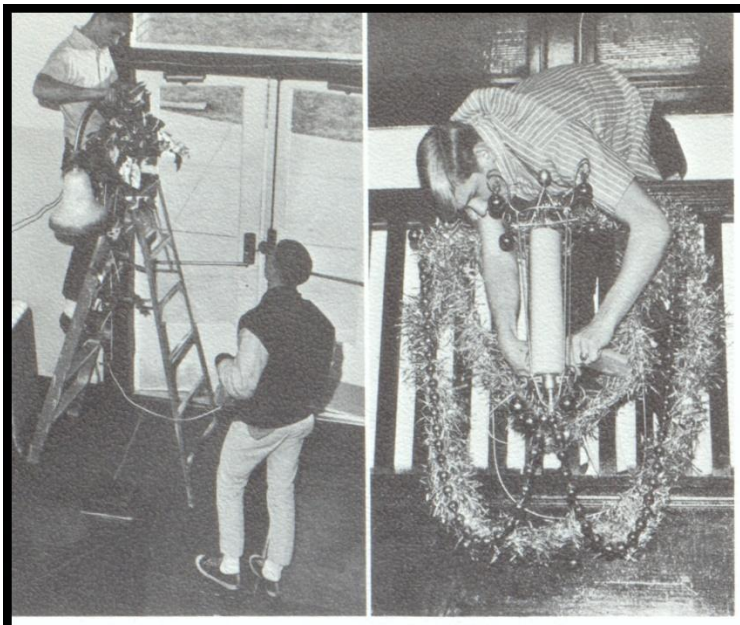

Students in various classes concentrate on their work.

Coleen Gade gives her campaign speech for Angelica Hansch.

Voting for Student Council officers was held on the stage in the auditorium.

Larry Skinner, Tim Chandler and Terry Drahota help decorate the school building for the Christmas season.

During the noon hour, students catch up on the current events of the day.

Above, Shirley Gibson and Dean Giauque comment on refreshments furnished by the Mothers Council.

Below, various couples at the Prom dance to music by the Meteors.

Coaches and players hold council at State Tournament.

Pep Club girls show varied expressions during State playoffs.

Patty Hawks and Marna Toft demonstrate a first aid technique in speech class.

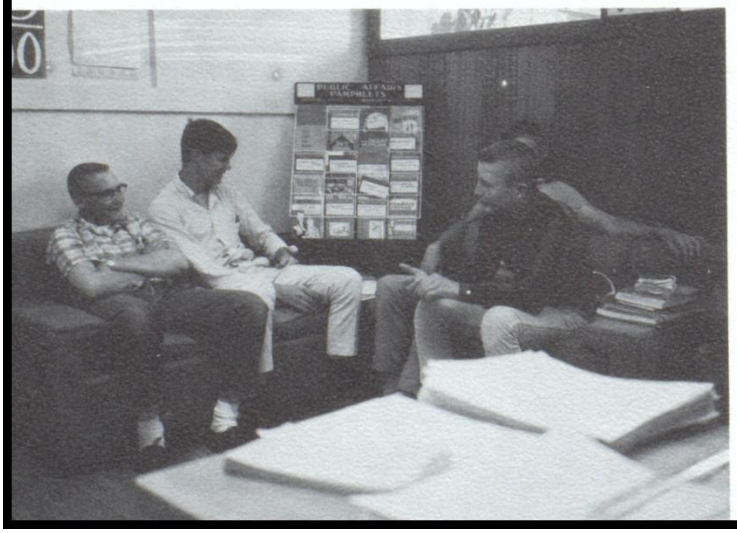

Mrs. VanDyke counsels Randy Schilling about his next year's schedule.

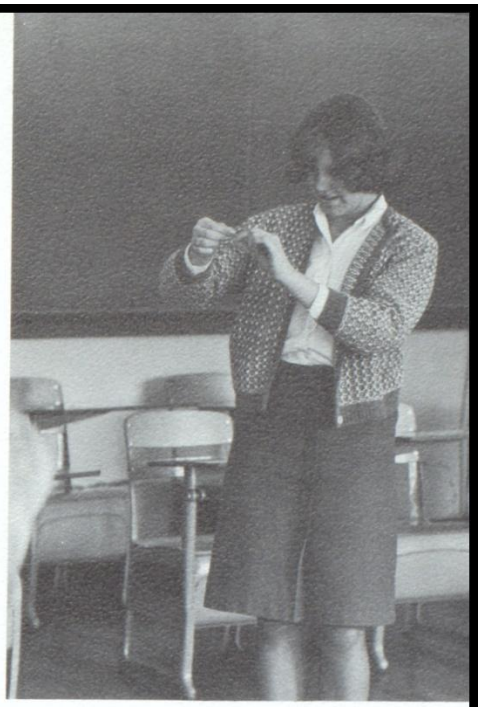

Linda Christensen, Mrs. VanDyke's office girl, assists her in her clerical work.

The BHS counseling program, headed by Mrs. Jane VanDyke, assists students in their present school problems, scheduling, further education, and maintains a complete file on career opportunities.

Students await counseling in guidance office.

SPEECH CLASS IMPROVES CONFIDENCE

Pantomime plays an important role in speech. Marna Toft pantomimes the threading of a needle.

Students listen attentively as Jean Watrous shows how to eat spaghetti.

Speech entered its second year at BHS this year. The members of the class were required to give speeches of various types along with readings and pantomimes. During the month of April they were required to prepare and deliver a campaign speech for one of the student council nominees. Mr. Tom Woolley instructed this class.

Ellen Andersen delivers a convincing speech in class.

ENGLISH COVERS

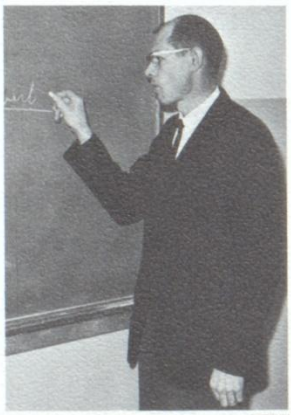

Mrs. Queen explains the day's vocabulary assignment to one of her Junior English classes.

Fifth period Sophomore English students listen attentively as Mr. Schantz reads an article from the newspaper.

Mr. Schantz headed the Soph English department and taught one Junior English Class.

Miss Walters taught senior English, and Miss Kundert taught one frosh English class.

BROAD AREA

Several freshmen in Miss Walter's class show signs of weariness.

Three English classes and two Spanish classes keep Mrs. Queen busy checking papers.

Mr. Neill looks over the daily scores made by his freshman students.

Brush High's English department consists of Mr. Edward Neill, Mr. Leland Schantz, Miss Joan Kundert, Miss Hildred Walters, and Mrs. Margaret Queen. English is a required subject four years at BHS, and is taught on four levels, including a functional level.

Students study grammar, composition, vocabulary, and literature. Such books as Treasure Island, A Tale of Two Cities, Bridge of San Luis Rey, and Moby Dick are read while attending Brush High School.

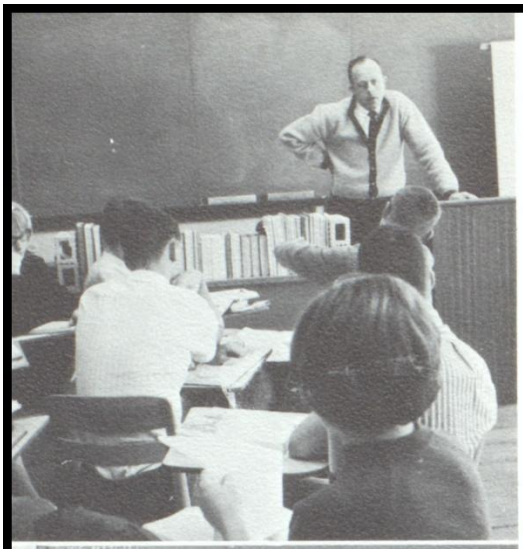

Sophomore Tim White promptly begins his English assignment.

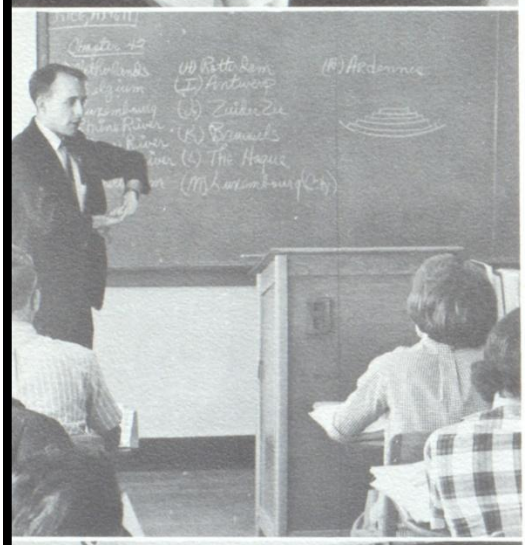

English IV students utilize class time to work on grammar exercises.

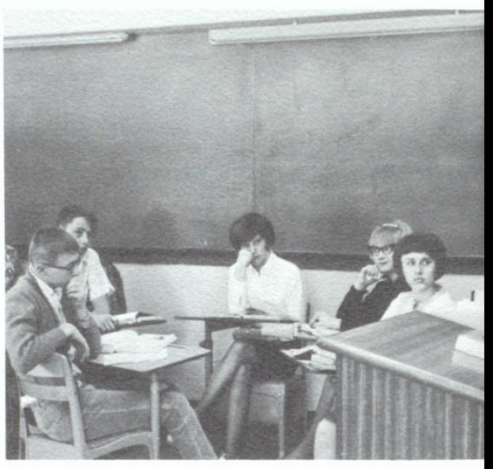

BHS OFFERS FOUR SOCIAL

Study group days in world history classes gave students an opportunity to discuss text material and ask questions.

World history classes, headed by Mr. Thomas Woolley, were primarily composed of sophomores. Material from The Record of Mankind by Roehm, Buske, Webster, and Wesley, was supplemented with Mr. Woolley's daily lectures. Chapter and unit tests

Freshmen in Mr. Kahle's sixth period class are concerned with geography of the world.

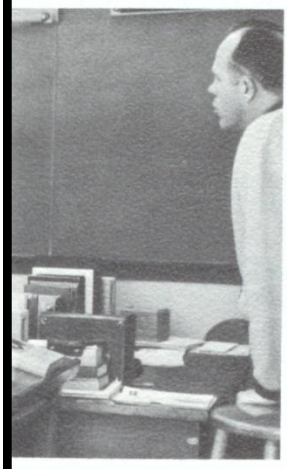

Seniors had many questions for Mr. Kahle.

In his second year at BHS, Mr. Larry Kahle had four senior American problems classes. Instead of using a regular textbook throughout the year, the seniors read various paperback books, including Hidden Persuaders by Vance Packard, What We Should Know About Communism by Harry and Bonaro Overstreet, and Huxley's Brave New World Revisited. American problems students also undertook the study of the great religions of the world.

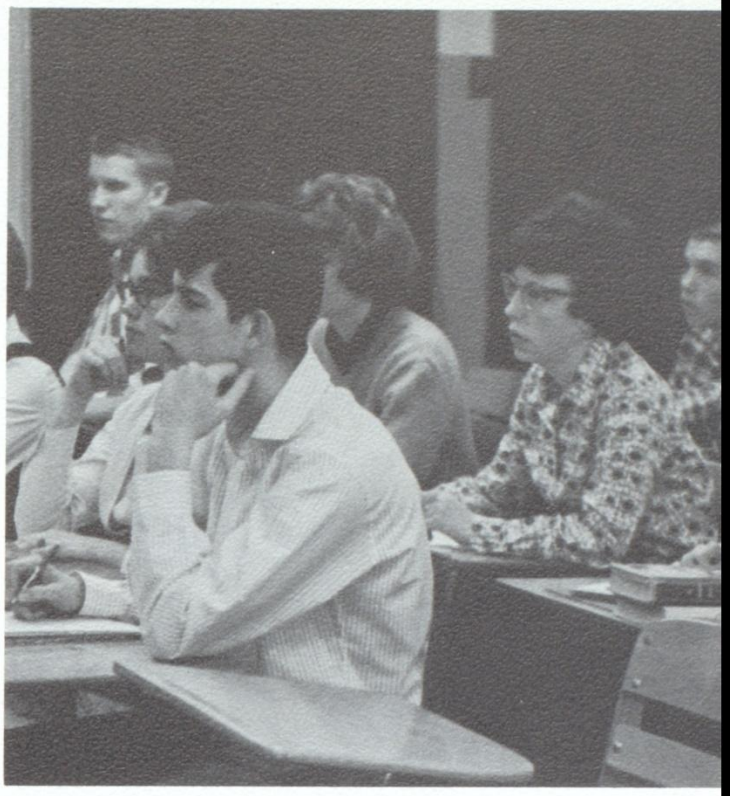

Mr. Kahle also had a freshman social studies class which met sixth period. During the first semester, the freshmen studied from the book Civics for Americans by Clark, Edmonson, and Dondineau. The second semester was taken up by the study of geography. World Geography were given periodically, and occasionally "pop" quizes were administered. A research theme on some topic studied during the six-weeks and a book review of a novel written about the period studied were required at the end of every six-weeks period.

Study group composed of Herb Koehler, Tim White, Kathy Swinson, Cheryl Banks and Karen Walter listens attentively to Mr. Woolley's clarification of a point.

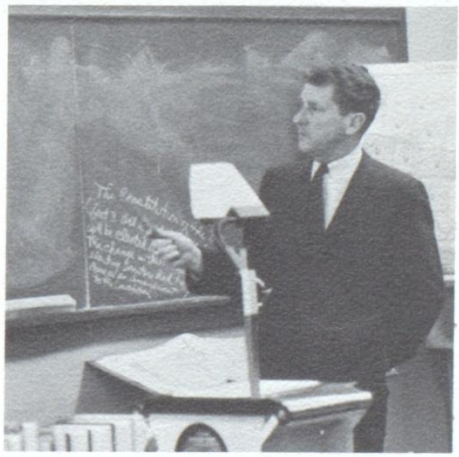

Second period American History students like Mike Lally, Becky Friehauf, and Hazel Vickers appear to be absorbed in Mr. Stimson's daily lecture. Students were required to take notes from the talks.

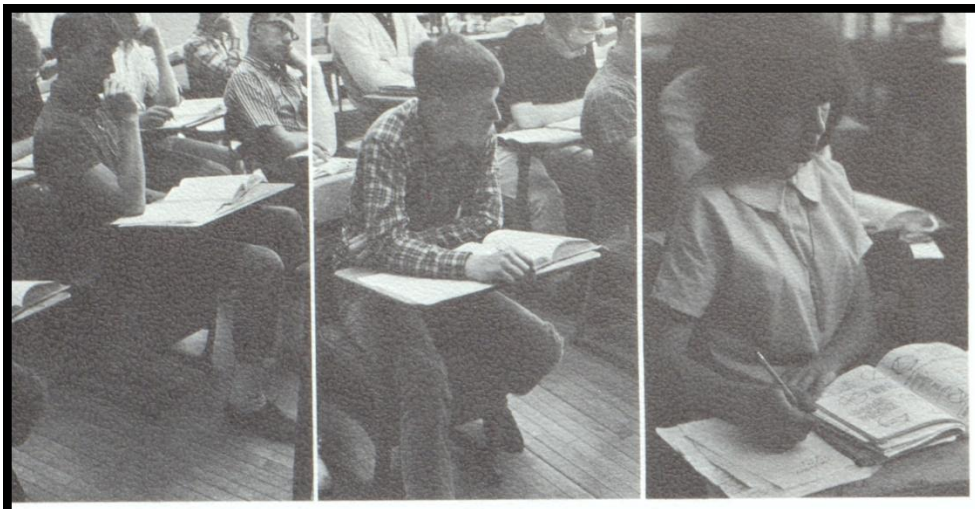

by Pounds and Cooper was the text used then.

Coach Joe Edson conducted two additional freshman social studies classes, while Mr. Paul Stimson taught a fourth class.

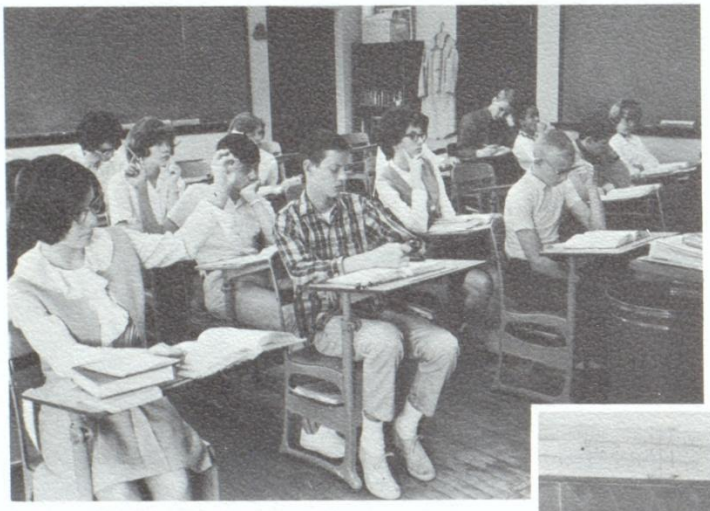

Juniors in Mr. Stimson's four United States History classes were required to turn in notebooks at the end of each six-weeks period. Sectional requirements of the notebooks were class notes, text questions and answers, current events, and tests and miscellaneous. There was a 10-minute quiz every week, and one or two hour-long tests each six-weeks. The text used in these classes was A History of the United States by Alden and Magenis. Mr. Stimson is a two-year veteran of Brush High School.

U. S. history lectures were enriched with the addition of an overhead projector in Mr. Stimson's room.

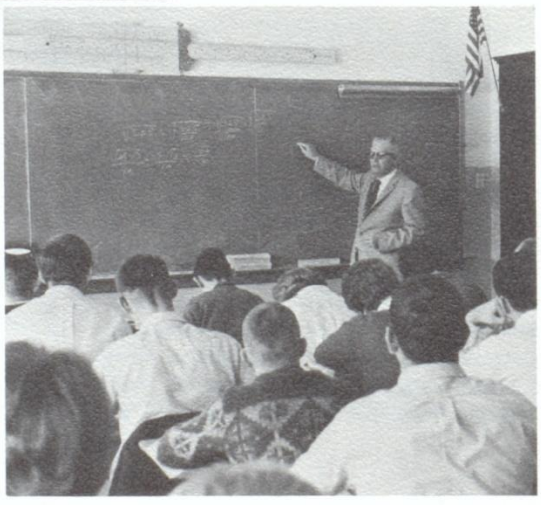

Tom Travis, Danny Crow, and Doris Weiss listen attentively to their geometry instructor, Mr. Schweers.

Students ponder over Algebra I and geometry problems. Solving for the square roots of numbers proves to be difficult for many.

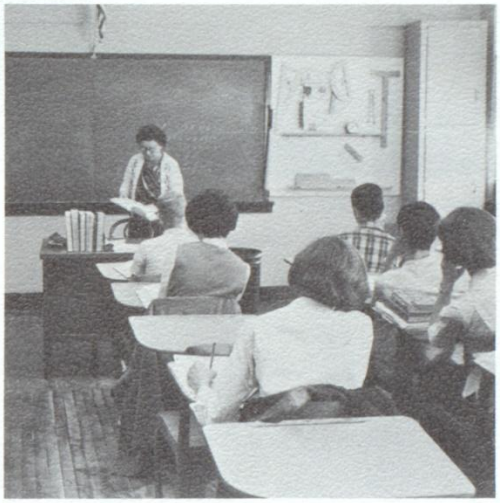

Math courses at B. H. S. consist of related math and Algebra I for freshmen, geometry for sophomores, Algebra II for the juniors and advanced math for the seniors.

Even though only one year of math is required for graduation, the majority of students take more than the one year required.

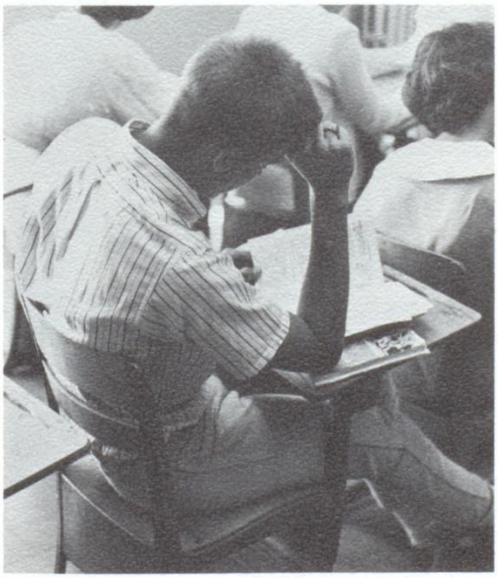

Miss Young, instructor of Algebra I and related math, lectures class on mixture problems.

MATH PROGRAM PREPARES STUDENTS FOR THE FUTURE

Sid Davis seems to be concentrating on his geometry.

Don Osborn prepares his written assignment for the day.

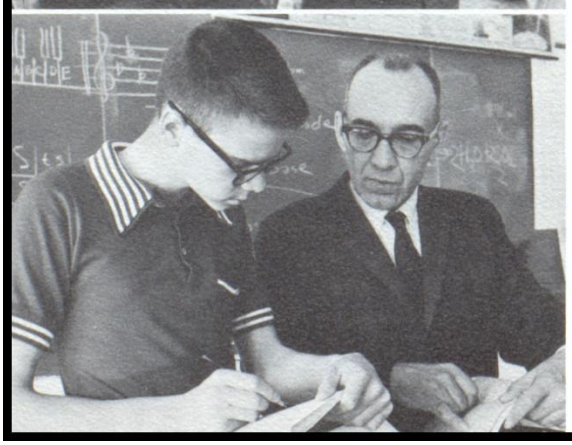

Leslie Christensen and Berdean Draegert give a demonstration to General Science students.

Mr. Edson instructs classes in Biology.

Don Osborn and Marna Toft work together during Chemistry class.

BRUSH OFFERS

Brush High School offers four courses dealing in science which include: General Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. Mr. Edson and Mr. Richards hold classes for the Biology students while Mr. Hawthorne instructs two General Science classes. Mr. Mercer teaches General Science, Chemistry, and Physics.

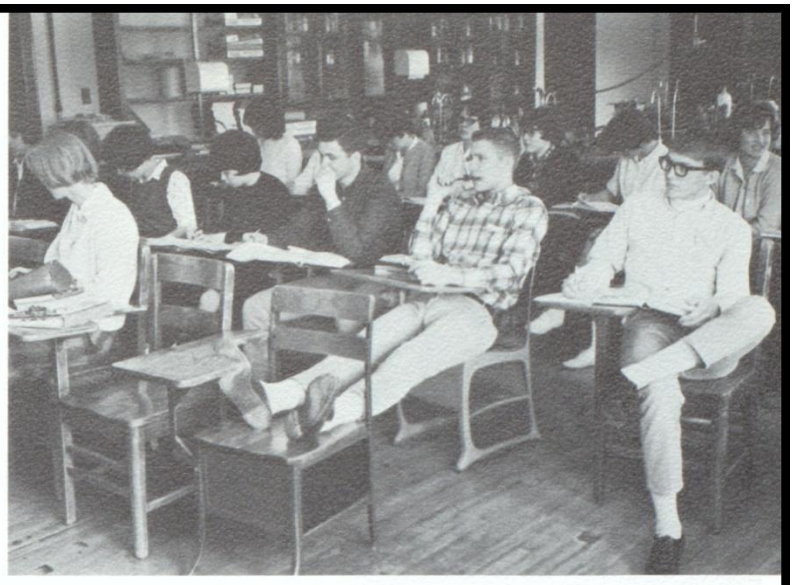

Students are required to have four science credits in order to graduate. General Science is offered to all freshmen while sophomores may take either General Science or Biology.

Juniors and Seniors have a choice of Chemistry and Physics.

Students listen to Mr. Mercer's explanation during third period Chemistry.

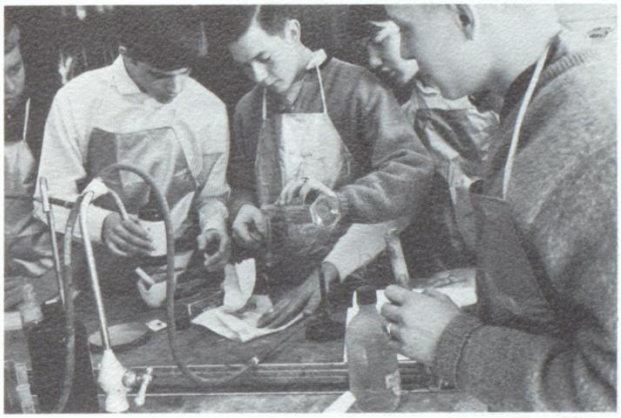

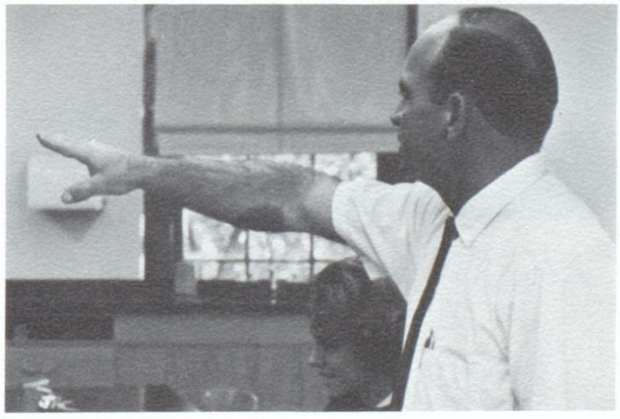

Students in first period Chemistry class work together on experiments.

FOUR SCIENCES

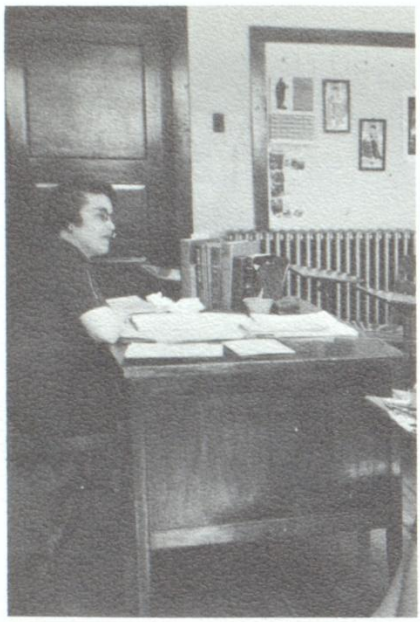

Mr. Richards teaches fourth period Biology.

Mr. Hawthorne presides over his General Science class.

SPANISH AND LATIN LANGUAGE

During the 1964-65 school year the languages taught at Brush High School included Spanish and Latin.

Mrs. Eleise Bloom, left, and Mrs. Queen, not shown, shared the Spanish schedule; however, Mrs. Bloom was the instructor for all of the Latin classes.

Doris Weiss, Carolyn Herrmann, and Bonnie Herrmann all listen carefully to a class lecture.

Equipment plays a large role in the teaching of any foreign language, and at Brush High, earphones and tape recorders are used to their fullest extent.

Linda Christensen and Tom Travis are taking a language test.

COMPOSE THE 64-65 COURSES

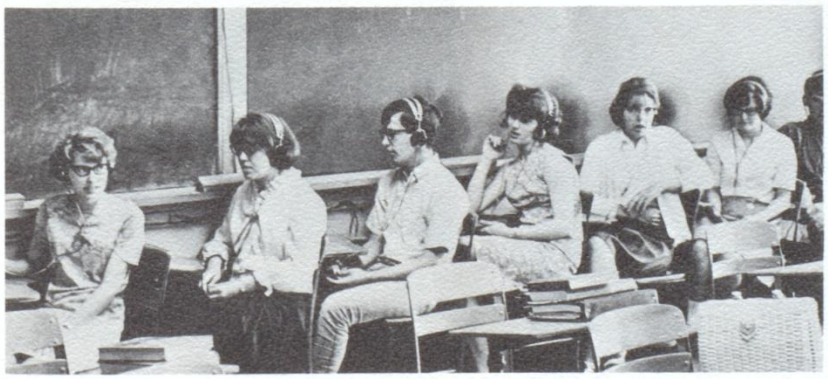

Paulette Pollock listens attentively to a Spanish tape.

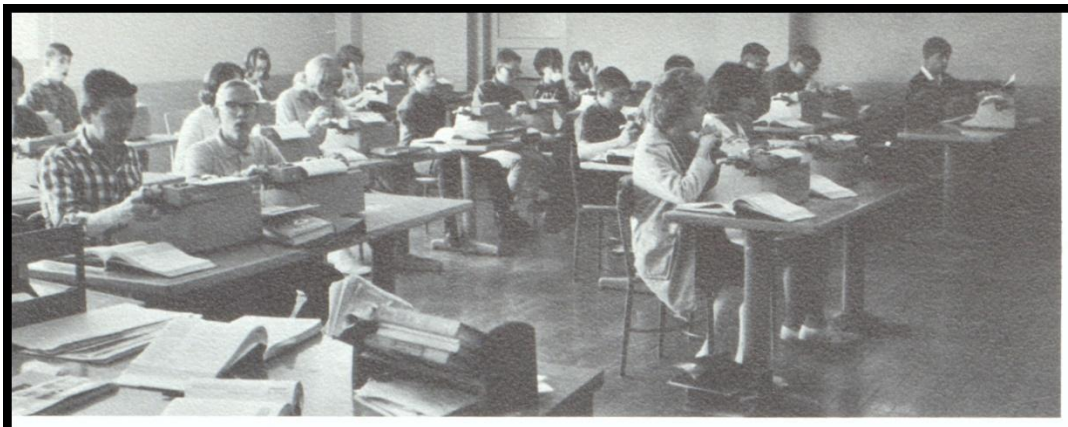

The study of any foreign language helps the student to converse fluently in the language he has chosen, and also helps him to understand the sometimes complicated structure upon which the language is based.

Latin is especially helpful in the study of the English language because many of the words are based on Latin roots.

Clarice Herbst, Teresa Peterson, Philip George, Paulette Pollock, Sherry Newlin, Linda Christensen, and Tom Travis all study tapes in Spanish II.

BUSINESS CLASSES GROW

BHS business classes include typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, and clerical practice.

Typing, which is taught by Miss Baker, is required for at least one of the four years at BHS.

Students taking typing are not only taught a skill, but they also learn to construct themes and manuscripts.

Gloria Foos, Dale Giauque, and Walter Cambell take advantage of the equipment offered to student typists.

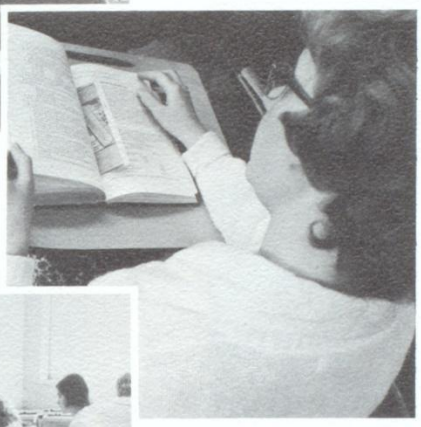

As with most students, Cathy Beyer makes an error in typing, but is soon straightened out by Miss Baker.

Dixie Kennisen, Marcia Graham, and Patty Hawks work against time in Clerical Practice.

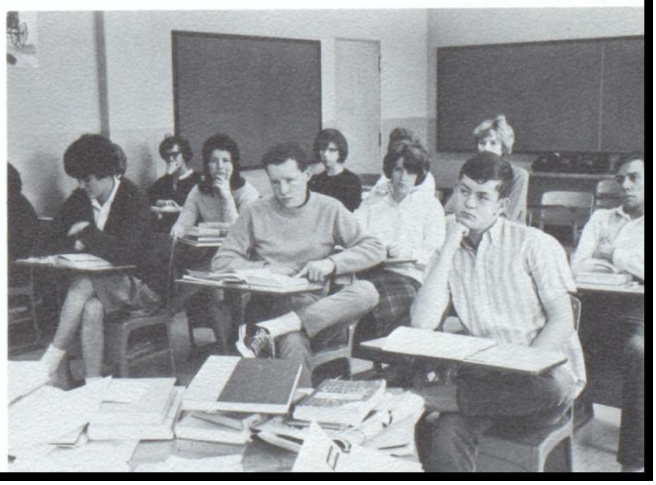

Mr. Mitchell, business, makes a minor repair on an adding machine, changing the paper.

Margaret Riter studies Bookkeeping.

Students take typing test in Clerical Practice.

Bookkeeping class listens to a lecture in Mr. Mitchell's third period class.

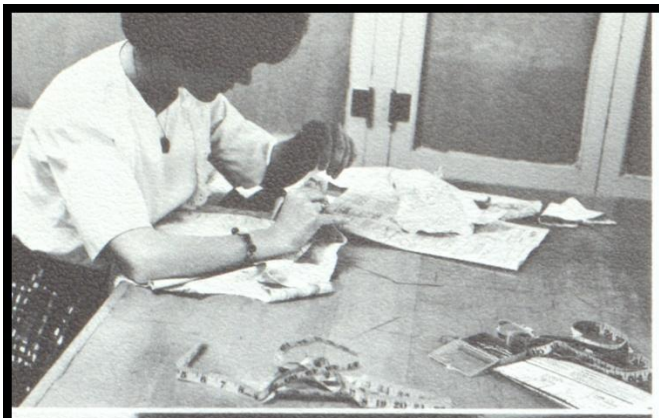

Bookkeeping, Shorthand I, and Clerical Practice are taught by Mr. Mitchell.

These classes are offered to juniors and seniors only.

At least one year of typing is required before you can take any of the above subjects.

This year there was one class of bookkeeping, one class of clerical practice and two classes of shorthand.

One of the many accomplishments of the Home Economics classes is making a garment. Laying out the pattern, cutting and pinning are the first steps. The next step is stitching the various pieces together. Finally comes the pressing.

HOME ECONOMICS TRAINS HOMEMAKERS OF TOMORROW

Although many students believe that the Home Economics classes study only cooking and sewing, it is much more involved. Since it is a vocational course, the state requires that certain other aspects of homemaking must also be studied. Included in the requirements are canning and freezing; child care, development and growth; and management of time, energy and money.

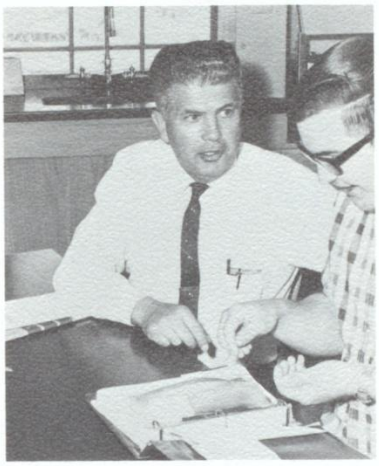

Mrs. Staby, instructor of the Home Economics classes, assists one of her students in completing a project.

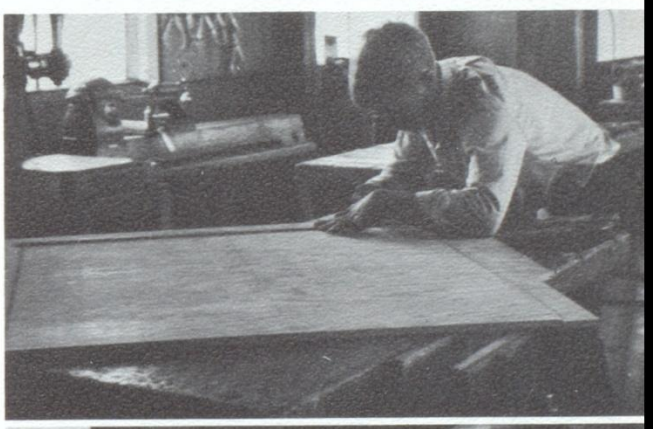

Mr. Richards observes the sanding of a truck in preparation for painting.

The Ag instructor, Mr. Richards, points out to Larry Wade the fine details of farm management.

AG CLASSES HAVE ACTIVE YEAR

Accurate measuring is an important item in making Ag projects.

The Ag classes are divided into three levels, all taught by Mr. Richards. These classes are primarily for students who are interested in taking up Agriculture as a vocation, either as a farmer or an advanced study in college.

In these classes students study livestock, various crops, types of soil, and actual farm management.

Jim Steyaert contemplates where to cut a piece of iron.

SHOP BUILDS WOODWORKING SKILLS

Tim Chandler tapers a leg at the lathe for his coffee table he made in shop class.

Classes in Industrial Arts consist of two main areas: mechanical drawing and construction of various projects in the shop. Three week periods are spent in each of these areas thus giving a student a chance to be graded on both drawing and woodworking.

In the drawing room the student learns the basic requirements of mechanical drawing. Such equipment as T-squares, drawing triangles, and instruments of a drawing set are used in room.

When the student enters the shop, he works on various projects he has chosen. They learn the use of power tools and to work with their hands.

This year several students made miniature houses out of small pieces of pine. Floor plans, end views, and front views are needed in the making of these houses. Several boys worked on these miniature houses including Melvin Callen and Larry Christensen whose house is shown on this page.

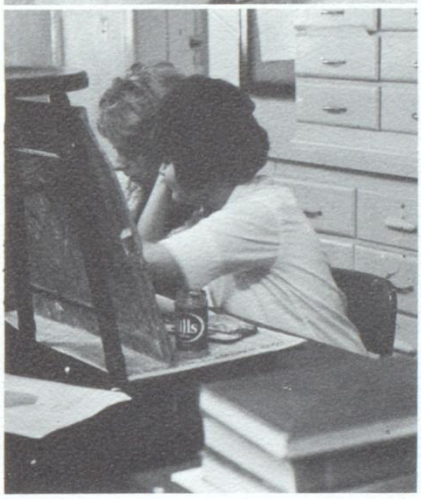

"PREPARATION FOR COLLEGE WORK," SAYS MRS. VESPER BASS

Mrs. Vesper Bass will head the Art Department for the last year as she plans to retire after this school term. Her success through the past forty years is shown throughout the school in various murals, paintings and posters.

This year's students were introduced to free hand, color design, composition, and the application of modern methods to old methods of drawing. Mrs. Bass bases all her instruction "on a fundamental preparation for a sound base for college work."

This year's outstanding students were Colleen Gade, Victor Garber, Dencia Pedersen and Gladwin Beyer.

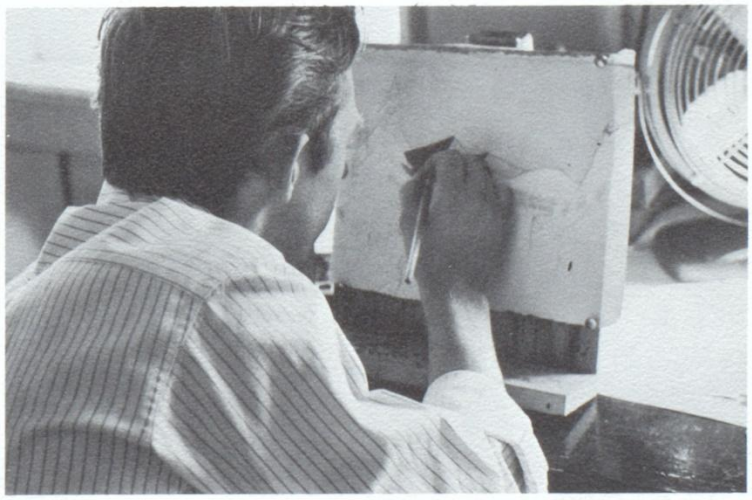

Gary Foiles adds the finishing touch to his water color painting.

Don Axtell, an advanced art student, also works on a painting in which he uses water colors.

BAND PRESENTS

The Brush High Band had 68 members. The Orchestra added variety to the concerts.

Dwight Cameron adds depth to the band.

This year the band presented two concerts, one in the fall and the mass Band Concert which was in May. Besides concerts here in Brush, the band went to Band Day in Fort Collins and participated in the League Festivals in Wray.

This year's twirlers were: Jean Ashiem, Marsha Graham, Cheryl Banks, Elaine Baade, Carol Groves, and Leslie Christensen. The majorette was Marilyn Tomlinson.

TWO CONCERTS

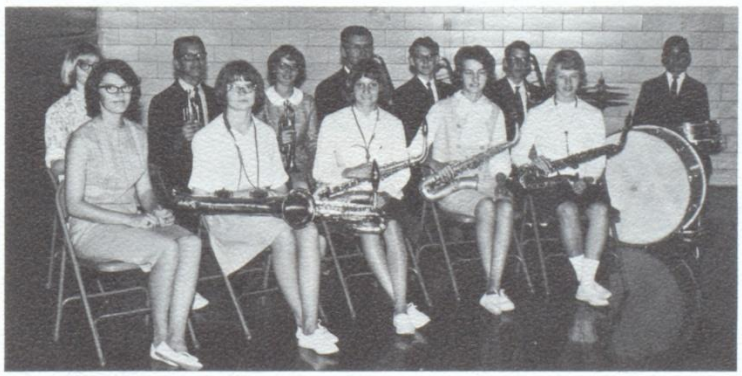

Kathy Christensen has been a band member for three years.

The band also played at home football and basketball games and was the background music in the KLZ television program.

Mr. Hinton and Mr. Price work together to prepare the band for concerts and other public appearances. The band practices many hours before each concert.

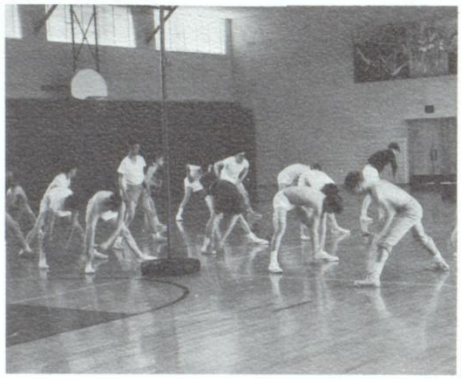

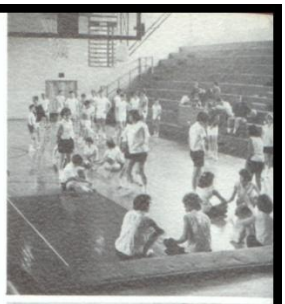

The Swing Band added music to several activities during the year. They played at the Junior Class Play and also the All School Play.

PE PROMOTES PHYSICAL FITNESS

Exercises are a regular part of the physical education program.

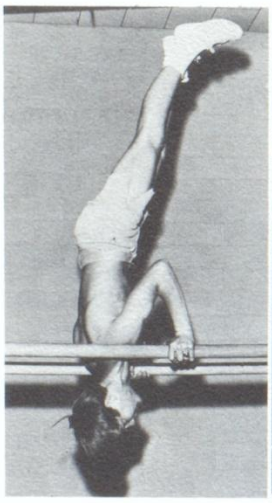

Mr. Al Hawthorne and Miss Joan Kundert supervise the p. e. classes this year.

Co-educational p. e. was introduced into our system for the first time this year.

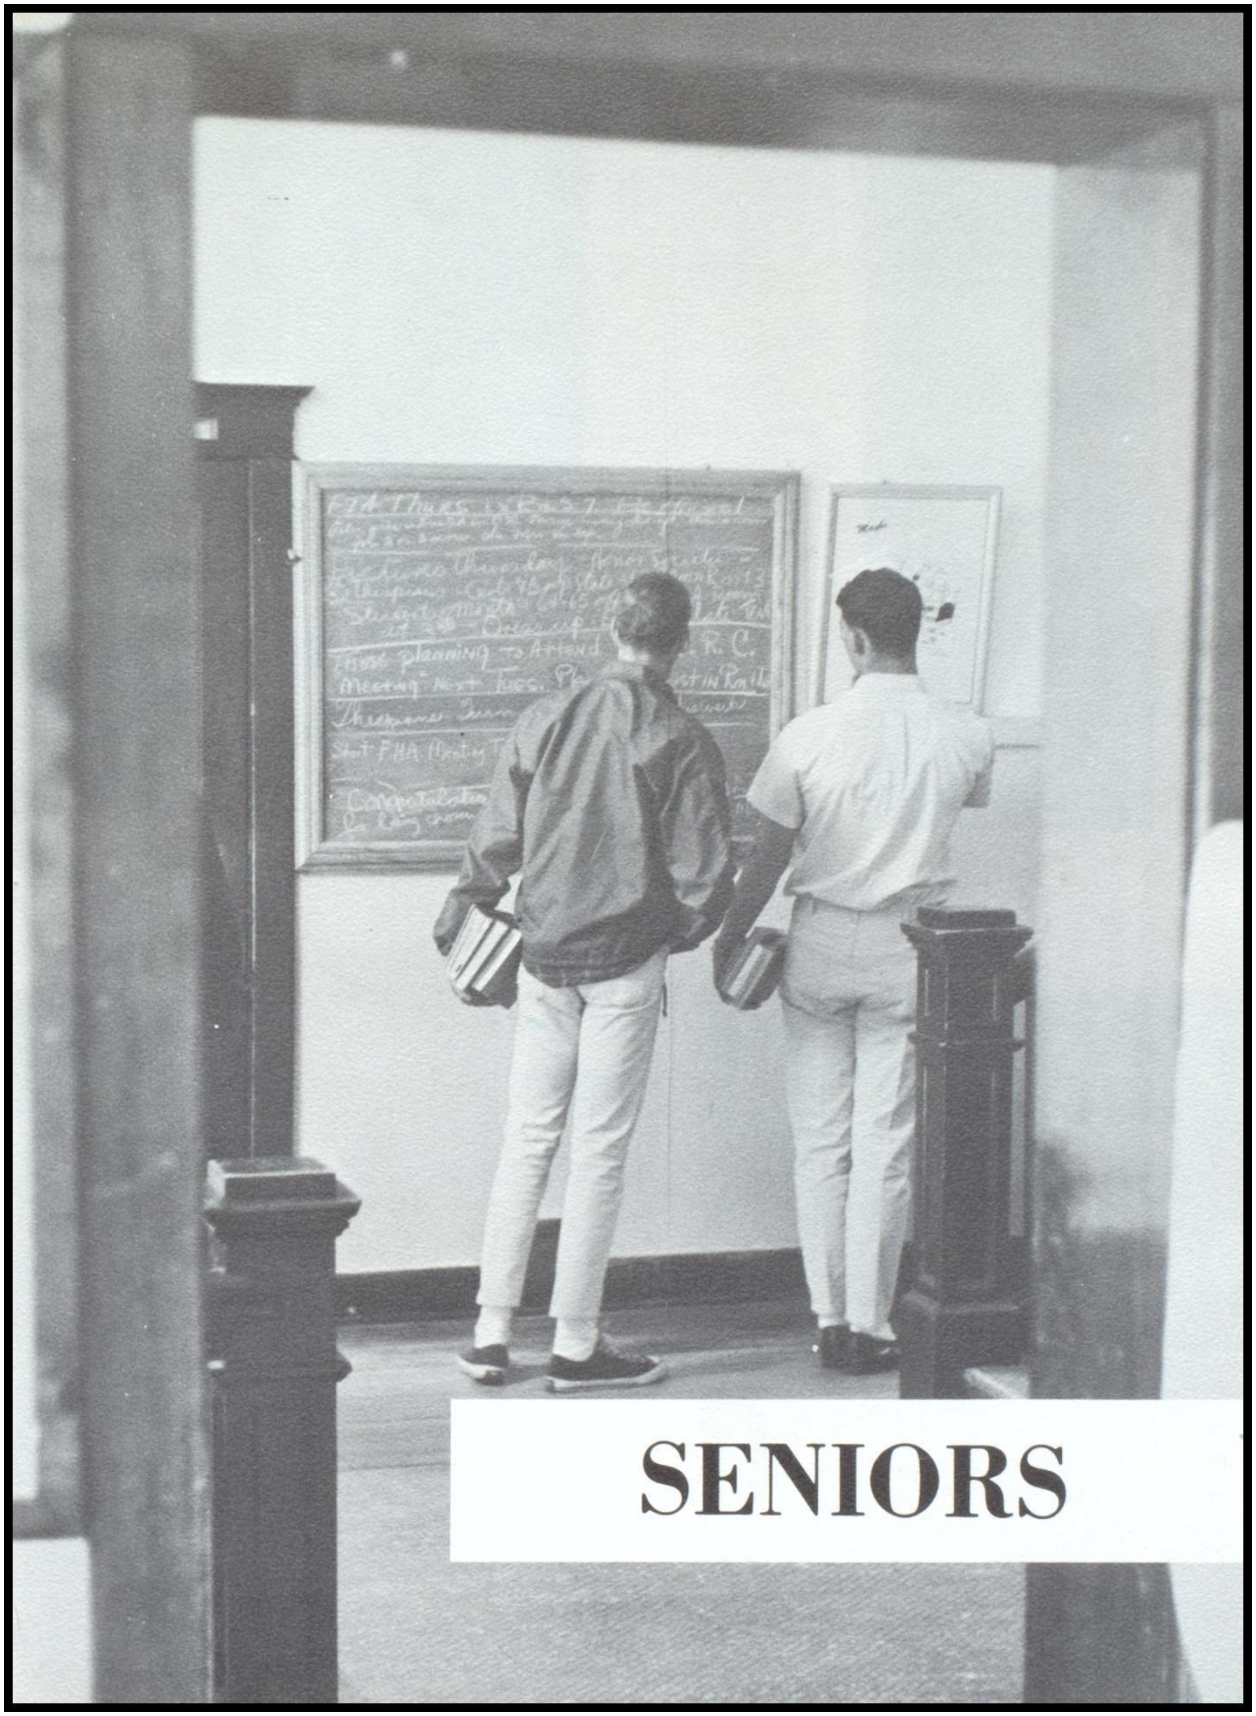

Jim Nab and Harriett Morgan make good use of the new equipment.

Among the new equipment purchased this year for the physical education department was a side horse, a trampoline, new mats and parallel bars.

Marlin Amsberry demonstrates the proper technique diving the mats.

Scripture Reading ..... The Rev. Reinhold Opp

Prayer ..... The Rev. Reinhold Opp

*Hymn - "Now the Day Is Over" ..... Congregation

Now the day is over,
Night is drawing nigh,
Shadows of the evening
Steal across the sky.

Now the darkness gathers,
Stars begin to peep,
Birds and beasts and flowers
Soon will be asleep.

Jesus, give the weary
Calm and sweet repose;
With they tenderest blessing
May mine eyelids close. Amen.

Sermon ..... The Rev. James Ahern
Text: "He that is wise hearkens unto counsels". Proverbs XII:15

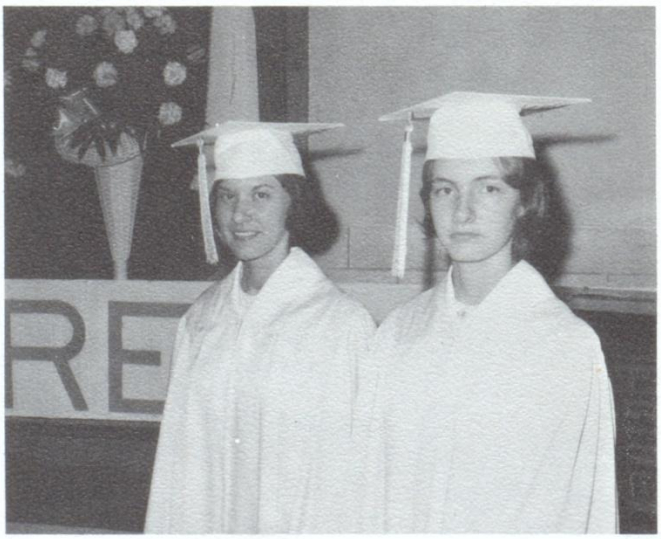

*Benediction ..... The Rev. Paul Wagner

Recessional - "Praise Ye the Father" - Cynthia von Riesen, Organist

Class officers were elected at the first meeting of the Juniors in late September of 1964. They are as follows: Tom Harbert, President; Patricia Lebsock, V. President; Art Rieser, Secretary; and Curtis Clark, Treasurer. Sponsors for the year are Miss Young, Mrs. Queen, and Mr. Edson.

The Juniors Homecoming float won third place with the theme "Lick 'em Diggers."

November 19 and 20 was the date for the Junior Class Play. "Lock, Stock, and Lipstick" was presented by eleven cast members. The play was a comedy of a typical high school and its guidance counselors.

Projects for raising money to sponsor the Prom included the Junior Play, selling concessions at games, and a dance.

BRUSH DISTRICT

In the playoff the four contending teams would split so there were two contests going on at the same time on different football fields. These games would only last two quarters and then the winner of each would play a half-game to see who was the victor. Brush faced the Holyoke Dragons first and defeated them 26 to 12.

Coach Al Hawthorne led the Brush Beetdiggers to a successful season of 4 wins, 4 losses and 1 tie. Brush suffered the tie and one loss to Estes Park and Limon respectively, giving them a 4 won and 3 loss league record. The Digger's losses in league play were to Yuma, Akron, and Julesburg.

The Beetdiggers ended the season with a 4-way tie for second place with Holyoke, Haxtun, and Yuma. As two teams were allowed to go to state from the Northeastern League, a playoff resulted that was held in Sterling, Colorado.

Pictured above, Larry Skinner piles through the defense for valuable yardage. Tim Chandler makes first touchdown in Brush's 38-6 win over the Wray Eagles, below.

The B-squad is shown with Coach Bob Hayes and Coach Joe Edson. This year they closed the season with a 1-won, and 5-lost record.

PLAYOFF

Brush then went against the winner of the Yuma-Haxtun game, which was Yuma.

Here, the Beetdiggers lost a very well-played ball game as the Yuma Indians defeated the Diggers 13-12.

The Brush team started practice on Tuesday, August 25 and turned in their gear on the 11th of November.

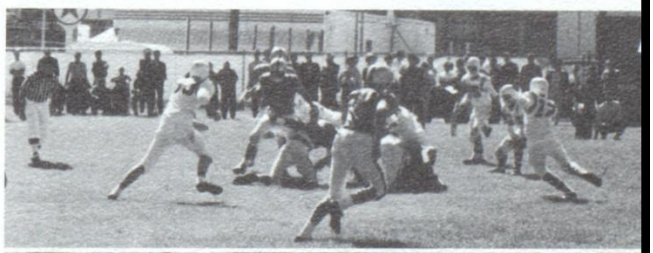

With mountains and other Brush players in the background, Larry Skinner goes down for a tackle. Below, Skinner teams up with Art Rieser for another tackle.

Tim Chandler attempts to sweep end, but is quickly stopped by a tough Estes Park defense.

BRUSH DOWNS FOR STATE

Coach Joe Edson led the Brush Beetdiggers to a first place in the new Northeastern League with a 15 win, 1 lost record. The Beetdiggers also took first place at the 44th annual State Championship playoffs by beating the Highland Huskies in the final game by a score of 69 to 64. Brush opened the tournament with a defeat over Glenwood Springs. This game was closely fought from the starting jump ball.

DANCE

WINTER

"Three Coins in a Fountain" was the theme for the annual Pep Club Sweetheart Dance which was held February 27, 1965.

The Brush High School recreation room was decorated with an ancient Roman mural setting at one end of the room. Streamers of aqua and royal blue, accented with gold, and a fountain of crepe paper added to the decor.

Adorned with a lace table cloth and a bouquet of flowers, the refreshment table was placed by the doorway and attended by members of the Mother's Council.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Marlin Amsberry as Mr. Beetdigger by head cheerleader, Ruthie Bostrom. Larry Skinner and Dean Giauque were attendants.

"BLUE HAWAII" THEME FOR JUNIOR-

After the crowning the royalty danced the coronation dance. Shown top to bottom are Shari Uhlenhopp, Queen, and Tom Harbert; Merrie Wankelman, Senior Attendant, and Curtis Clark; Patricia Lebsock, Junior Attendant, and Art Rieser.

Merrie Wankelman and Don Osborn enjoy a slow dance.

Dancing to the music of the "Meteors", guests try the Jerk. In the background members of the Mothers' Council are shown attending the punch table.

SENIOR PROM

On the night of May 1, the class of 1966 presented to the seniors the Junior-Senior Prom. With the theme of "Blue Hawaii", the juniors transformed the recreation room into a tropical paradise, using sea motifs and grass hut.

The crowning of the royalty took place at 11:30 as junior class officers, Art Rieser and Curtis Clark, announced Patricia Lebsock as the Junior Attendant and Merrie Wankelman as the Senior Attendant. Then Tom Harbert led Queen Shari Uhlenhopp to the throne to climax the evening. Crown bearers Danny Alexander, Robin Hernandez, and Jerry Bass, carried the pearl tiaras in native baskets filled with flowers.

As the couples entered the room they received leis handed out by the Mother's Council.

Music for the evening was provided by the Meteors of Loveland.

Couples enjoy both slow (Top) and fast (Bottom) dances.

George Sears and Fred Mercer acted as baseball officials during the day.

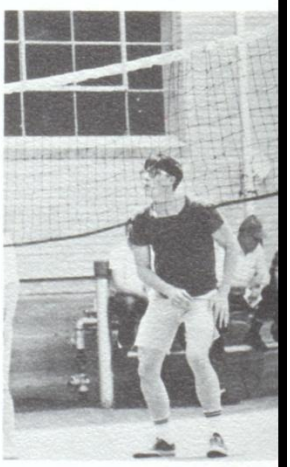

Even the teachers had a chance to participate in the "Digger Day" events. Below: Kathy Swinson and Duane Richards aid their team in scoring.

"DIGGER DAY" ENTERTAINMENT

"Digger Day" was held on May 17 in place of the annual "Sadie Hawkin's Day". Scheduled for the 14th, "Digger Day" was postponed until the 17th due to rain. The Roadrunners provided the music for the "Digger Day" Dance which was held as was first scheduled.

Curtis Clark, as Mr. Warren, attempts to pull off Linda Schilling's, Miss Garderner's, overshoe.

Cynthia von Riesen, as Miss Prather tells Miss Entwhistle, portrayed by Bonnie Herrmann, what she thinks of her.

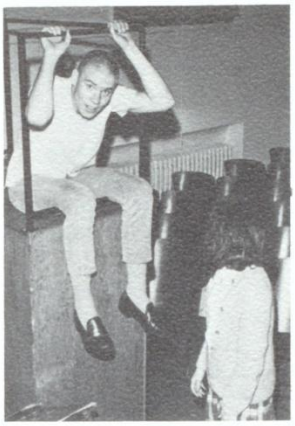

The Class of '66 presented the annual Junior Class Play, "Lock, Stock, and Lipstick" on November 13 and 14. It was a three-act comedy about Gordon Warren, a male guidance counselor, who, being constantly plagued by women, ends up fiance to a female guidance counselor.

Mr. Warren, however, proves to be a very competent counselor and after getting many troubled teenagers out of various jams, is chosen as the successor to Miss Entwhistle, as principal.

On April 2 and 3 the Brush High Thespian Troupe presented "Home Sweet Homicide" at the Central School Auditorium.

Mrs. Eleise Bloom was the director with Miss Lorraine Young and Karen Opp as the prompters. Merrie Wankelman was property manager and Bonnie Whitney was the business manager. Don Alexander, Dennis Bostron, and Phillip George were the members of the stage crew.

The climax of the play comes when Mr. Cherington, Barney Livengood, threatens to shoot Archie, Dinah, and April played by Dale Giauque, Shari Uhlenhopp, and Pam Weisbart.

PRESENTED
SWEET HOMICIDE"

A mystery comedy, "Home Sweet Homicide," was based on book by Graig Rice. It is the story of three teenage children who go to such extremes as murder to get their mother remarried.

The prompter, business manager, and stage crew are shown on the night of dress rehearsal.

NATIVITY PRESENTED BY SENIOR CLASS

Jean Watrous narrated the Nativity presented by the Class of '65.

Under the direction of Mrs. Eleise Bloom and Miss Lorraine Young, the Class of 1965 presented the Nativity. Twenty-nine seniors composed the cast. Those willing to participate in the production signed a list at a regularly scheduled class meeting and the cast was then chosen by Mrs. Bloom. Phyllis Vodehnal was the business manager, assisted by Paulette Pollock. Publicity was handled by Merrie Wankelman.

Ruth Bostrom and Marianne Palmer were slave girls while Gene Swopes, Barney Livengood, and Gary White portrayed the kings.

At left: Jean Maupin and Marsha Graham played the parts of the children. Merrie Wankelman and Carol Hergenreter portrayed the wives and Vic Garber, Ron Miller and Mike Schreiner were the innkeepers.

STUDENT COUNCIL HAS AN ACTIVE YEAR

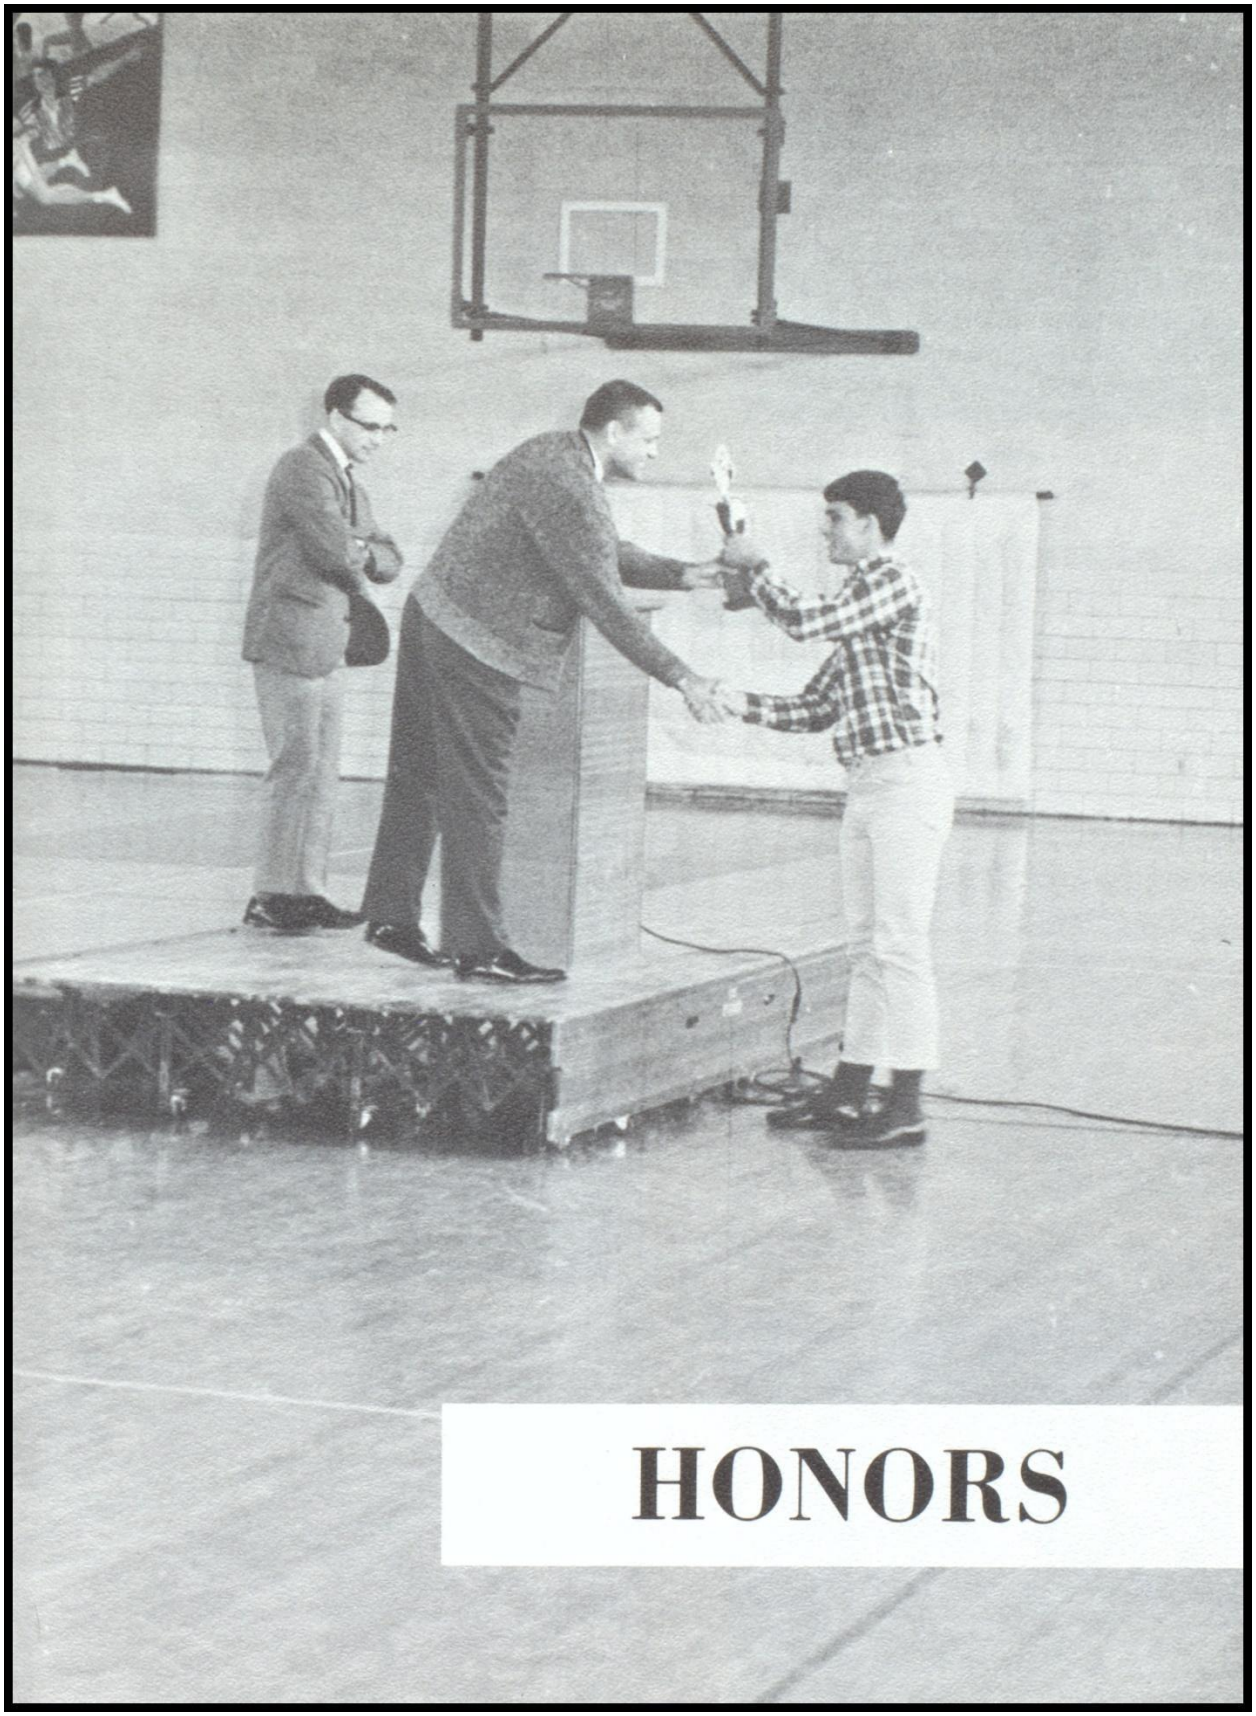

The student council is sponsored by Mrs. Jane VanDyke.

This year Brush High Student Council sponsored many projects, among these were homecoming, decorating for Christmas holidays and organizing the all school talent program. They also made banners for the athletic teams in our league and organized the election of next years Student Council officers. Finally they sponsored Digger Day which took the place of Sadie Hawkins Day.

B.H.S. ROYALTY HIGHLIGHTING

CAROL HERGENRETER

Each year the students of Brush High School select several of their classmates to receive the honors of royalty.

At the traditional Homecoming game, football captain Larry Skinner crowned Carol Hergenreter queen of the Homecoming festivities. Each year B-Club nominates four senior girls as candidates. The Homecoming queen is then chosen from these candidates. Carol's attendants were Ruth Bostrom, Jean Watrous and Shari Uhlenhopp. Carol was formally crowned at the Homecoming Dance which followed the game.

REIGNS OVER EVENTS

Marlin Amsberry received the title of Mr. Beetdigger at the annual Sweetheart Dance. Mr. Beetdigger is chosen by the Pep Club. All Senior boys who have participated in some field of athletics are voted upon for athletic ability, sportsmanship, and personality. Marlin was crowned by head cheerleader Ruth Bostrom. His court included Larry Skinner and Dean Giauque.

MARLIN AMSBERRY

SHARI UHLENHOPP

At the Junior-Senior Prom held on May first, Shari Uhlenhopp reigned as the 1965 Prom Queen. Merrie Wankelman was crowned Senior attendant and Patricia Lebsock received the honor of Junior attendant.

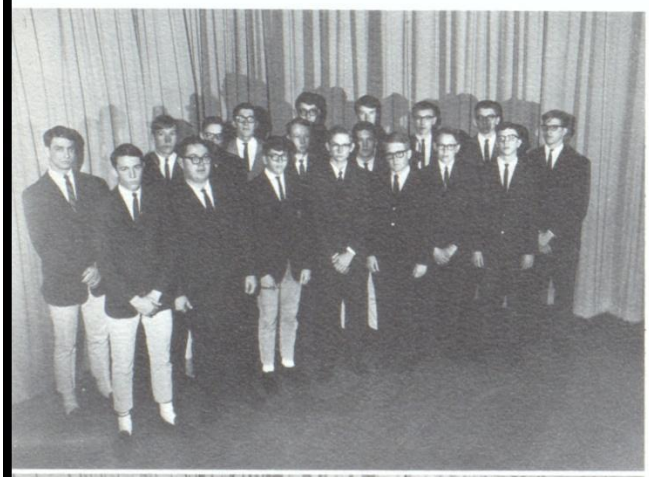

Competition for the title of Prom Queen is limited to seniors only. The queen and her attendants are voted upon by the junior and senior classes.

Members of the Senior Honor Society are: Seniors E. Anderson, T. Chandler, T. Drahota, C. Gade, D. Giauque, B. Livengood, W. Mata, L. Melvin, J. Nielsen, L. Skinner, P. Vodehnal, J. B-Club, under the supervision of Coach Edson and Coach Hawthorne, had a normal year. At the beginning of the term the lettermen sold pens with the Brush Beetdiggers 1964 football schedule. In May members held their annual banquet and dance to honor the seniors and to initiate new members into the club. At the banquet, a plaque was presented to the doctors of the Brush Clinic in appreciation of their faithful attendance to and support of Brush High athletic events. After dinner the guests danced to the music of the Monocles from Greeley.

One of Brush High School's most active organizations is the Future Farmers of America. It is composed of members from every class in high school.

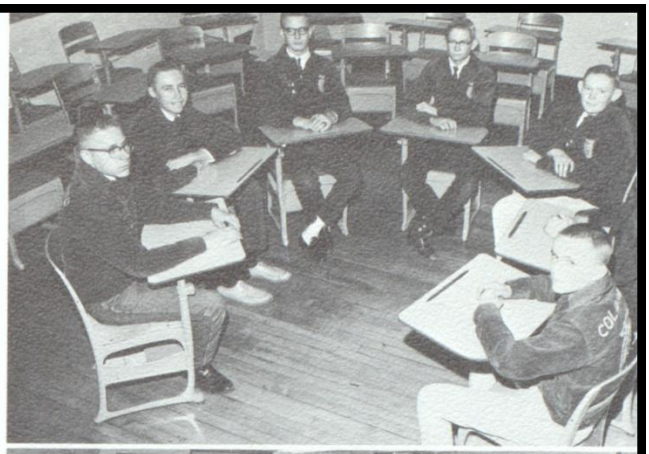

An extensive procedure is necessary for entering F. F. A. including learning the creed and then giving it in a contest. Other activities of F. F. A. are frequent judging contests and livestock display contests all over Colorado.

DEVELOPS FARMING

The F. F. A. officers for 1964-65 were as follows: Jim Steyaert, President; Bruce Bass, Vice-president; Darwin Tuttle, Treasurer; Larry Johnson, Secretary; Larry Vickers, Reporter; Steve Cook, Sentinel; and Jim Hunt, Photographer.

INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING GOAL OF IRC

The club, numbering twenty-four, attended two conferences this year. They were present at the Model U. N. at Greeley and the Boulder Conference in the spring.

The club also had a combined banquet with the F. T. A. The I. R. C. hosted one big dance with Glen "Boogie" Bell, KIMN DJ.

Members of radio club this year were: Doris Weiss, Jerry Carlson, Ken Wagers, and Ken Crosthwait. The club is sponsored by Mr. Schweers.

Ken Crosthwait waits for his license.

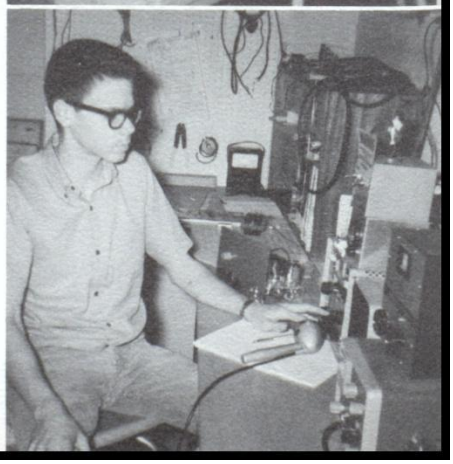

Radio club sent several members to Denver to take the Federal Examinations. To become a licensed operator this test has to be passed. Ken Crosthwait passed the test, his second attempt. Doris Weiss is expected to get her license early next fall.

Mr. Schweers operates his home station.

Ken Wagers has had his license for 2 years.

THESPIANS HIGHLIGHT YEAR WITH DRAMA

New Thespians are: D. Alexander, E. Baade, J. Bloom, D. Bostron, P. George, D. Giauque, S. Gibson, T. Harbert, S. Hook, J. Murrow, D. Osborn, C. Schilling, L. Schilling, G. Sears, C. von Riesen, K. Wagers, P. Weisbart, B. Whitney.

Highlighting the year of 1964-65 was "Home Sweet Homicide", the All School Play. It was a murder comedy portraying a widowed mother and her three children's efforts to get her married to a detective. Other Thespian productions were the Junior Class Play, and the Nativity, presented by the Senior Class.

Mrs. Bloom sponsors Thespians as well as directing all dramatic productions.

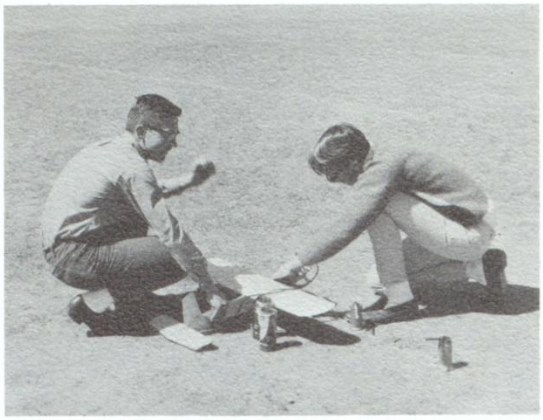

Returning Thespians were: L. Bailey, C. Clark, T. Drahota, C. Gade, D. Giauque, B. Herrmann, P. Lebsock, S. Larsen, B. Livengood, K. Opp, A. Rieser, M. Schriener, and G. Swopes.

Airplane Club, sponsored by Mr. Mercer, again was composed of mostly freshmen, but was open to all who wished to participate.

The club is designed to stimulate interest in aviation. This purpose is reached by having each student construct and fly a scale model plane.

Tuesday, the club's meeting day, is usually spent outdoors or in the gym flying, as are the rest of the days of the week.

FHA members listen to discussion at a regular business meeting.

Treasurer, Phyllis Carlson, (left) keeps the books straight for the club. Dian Delong, (right) president of the club, presides at one of the regular meetings.

FHA, sponsored by Mrs. Andrew Staby, were busy during the entire year with various activities, ranging from money-making projects to charity.

This year the members visited the old folks home, ran the concession stand at the Junior Fair, treated their mothers to the cinerama in Denver, and sent representatives to the district meeting in Wray.

Wanda Carlson, Linda Larsen, and Phyllis Carlson discuss club problems.

Mrs. Staby, sponsor of the club, approves of the girls and their plans for the year.

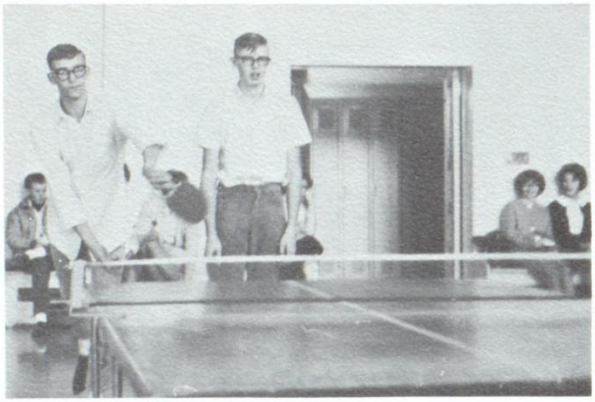

Students socialize and study in the auditorium during the noon hour.

NOON HOUR PROVIDES TIME FOR RELAXATION

Noon hour recreation, in part sponsored by Student Council, was an integral part of each student's day. A one and one-half hour lunch period was provided, and since most students displayed the rather questionable skill of being able to down their meals in ten minutes, a recreation program seemed necessary. Whenever students were not involved with club meetings, they had a choice of several things to do.

In the rec room, records for dancing were provided. Girls danced on one end of the seemingly segregated room while boys spiked the other end of the old gym with flying ping-pong balls. The auditorium provided a place for doing last minute homework and holding "jam sessions." All of the activities were supervised by the faculty.

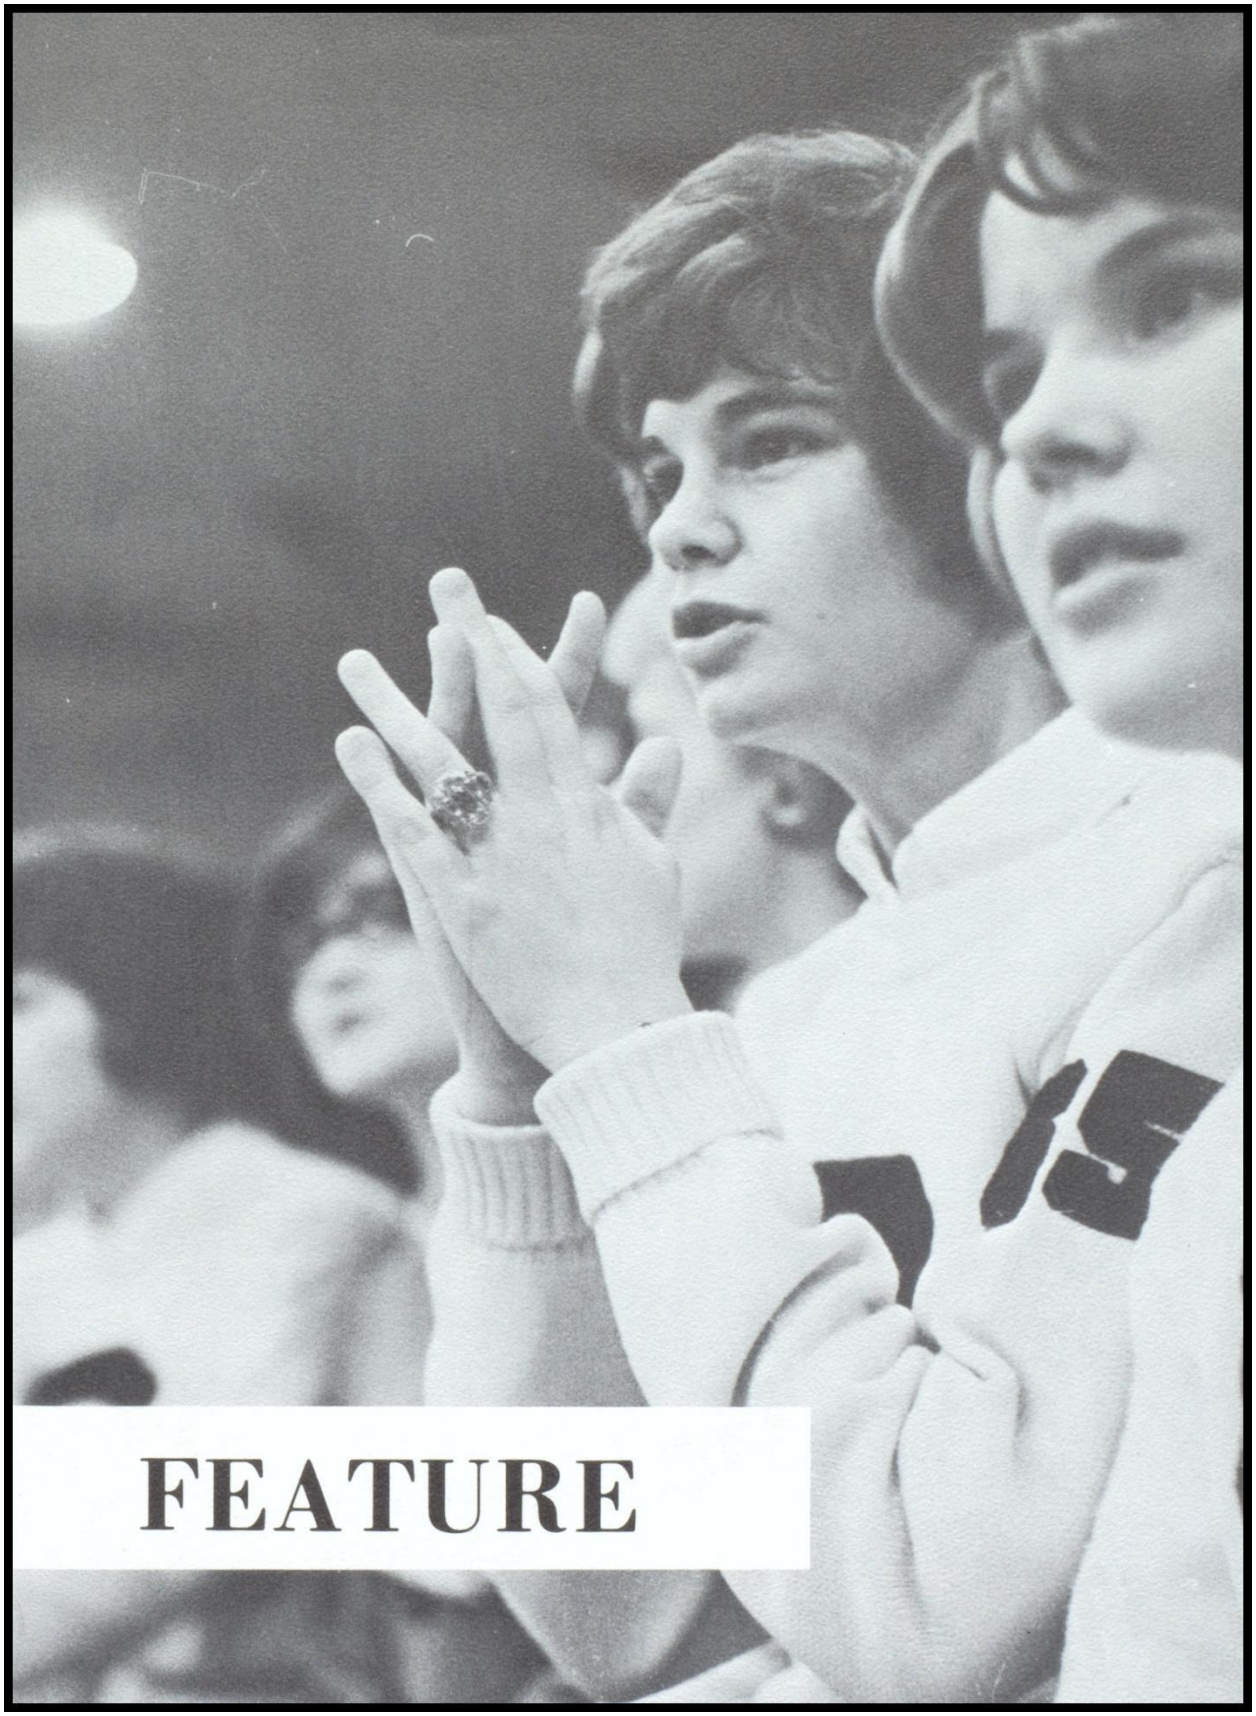

Don Alexander and Charles Newport were two of the more skilled ping-pong enthusiasts.

At left, Mrs. Bloom uses her noon hour to grade papers.

Girls using the rec room to try out new dances always had an interested audience.

STUDENTS ELECT

Linda Schilling distributes a ballot to Mr. Lally. Students received their ballots on the stage this year.

Members of the speech class used many devices for presenting candidates' qualifications.

65-66 OFFICERS

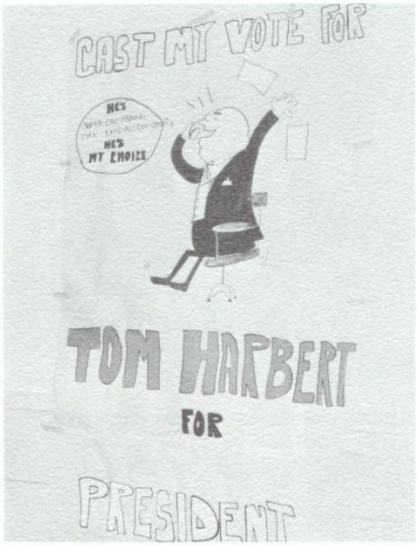

Though only four candidates were victorious, the entire school was engulfed by the election.

Posters urging the students to elect the best man were placed in the halls and auditorium.

Next year's Student Council will be headed by Tom Harbert. Connie Jones was elected to the office of Secretary; George Sears, Vice-President; and Mike Stimson, Business Manager.

Ron Miller deposits his marked ballot in the ballot box.

Stage decorations added a touch of patriotic color to the stage during the speeches.

Student Council officers for the year 1965-66 are Mike Stimson, Tom Harbert, George Sears, and Connie Jones.

DIGGERS CLASS AA

Mr. Joe Edson, who coached the Brush High Beetdiggers to their first Class AA victory, and championship, has coached and taught at BHS for two years.

Throughout the tournament the officials found it difficult to please both teams when situations like the above arose.

Sid Davis as well as the rest of the team, shows signs of a champion as he releases a pass.

The Denver Arena was the site of all Class AA competition this year.

Team members relaxed in various ways before the grueling games.

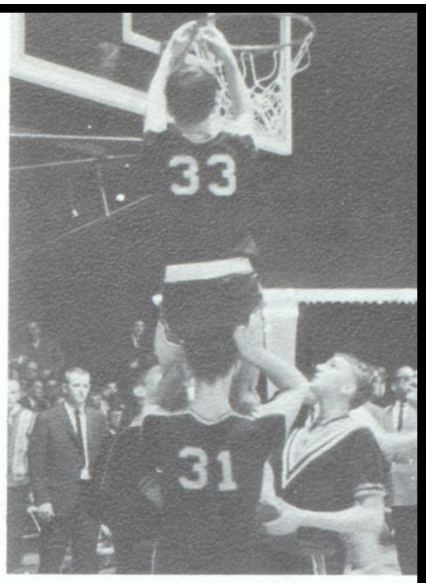

SWEEP BRACKET

After slipping by Glenwood Springs by one point in an overtime, then crushing a heavily favored Salida team, the Brush High Beetdiggers moved into the finals of the Colorado State High School Basketball Tournament.

With tension high, the Diggers pushed on to capture their first Class AA championship by defeating the Highland Huskies 69-64.

The State Tourney was held in Denver March 11, 12, and 13, and all Class AA teams played in the auditorium.

With the three tourney wins, Brush sported an 18-1 season record, their only loss being to the Yuma Indians.

Dean Giauque, Larry Skinner, and Barney Livengood support Tim Chandler as he goes after the net.

Spirits were high in the shower room after each successive victory.

Brush's defense often hampered the scoring attempts of opposing teams.

The Diggers were backed up by the enthusiasm and vigorous cheering of the pep club and fans.

64-65 REFLECTS

The rec room offered a place to practice the latest dance steps.

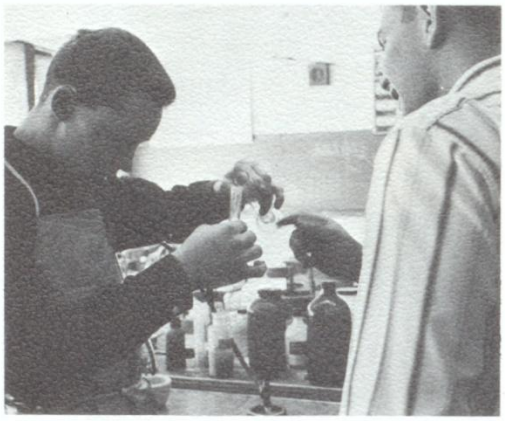

It was also a place to enjoy the fruits of effort.

Students enjoyed the long noon hour, but often found class activities interesting and fun, too.

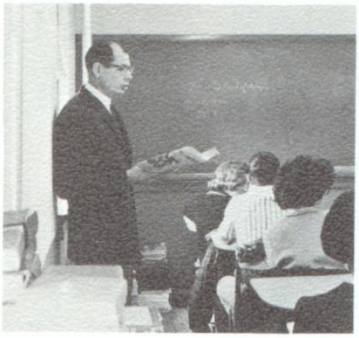

Hot afternoons of rugged practice...

...earned the Diggers a chance at a berth in the State Football Tourney.

CONTRAST

The faculty members often worked hard, but they enjoyed themselves Digger Day by beating the Junior team in volleyball.

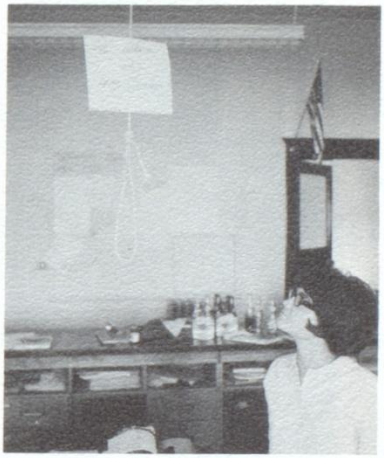

Some classes were small, like Mrs. Bloom's Spanish III class. . . .

. . . but others were just the opposite, as was the case in Mr. Edson's third period Biology class.

Pam Weisbart, a 65-66 staff member, respects an ominous deadline warning.

Students often used the facilities of the auditorium to increase their knowledge. Others merely sat, looking intelligent.
